TOKYO REVOLT NOT ENDED

TWO CENT PASSENGER FARES ARE ORDERED

Alice Longworth Says

(Special To The News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 28.—The cat is out of the bag. General Hagood has been disciplined for telling what he thought of boondoogling. He was told by General Craig, the chief of staff, that he was "perfectly free to express any opinion." He was ordered to go ahead. When he acted on that order the axe fell.

Nobody claims that anything he said was untrue, or that any of his statements were against the public interest.

The question is, who, then, is punishing General Hagood? It is utter nonsense to say it is the army. The army doesn't object to what he said. The trouble is that he told facts unpalatable to the administration in homely, graphic language that anyone could understand.

If his testimony had been in the form of starchy replies to congressional interlocutors no one would have noticed it.

His pungent truth-telling was more than P. W. A. Administrator Hopkins could take. And back of Mr. Hopkins and his fellow bureaucrats stands the president.

ALICE LONGWORTH.

I. C. C. Orders Two Cent Fare For Railroads

Drastic Cut In Passenger Fares On Railroads Of Nation Decreed

ORDER MADE BY SIX-FOUR APPROVAL

New Rates Ordered In Effect June 2, 1936—Railroads May Fight Ruling

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—Holding that the regular basic passenger fare structure of the railroads throughout the country is unreasonable, the I. C. C. today fixed a maximum future fare basis of two cents per passenger mile in coaches and three cents in pullman cars.

The decision was six to four. Commissioner Tate did not participate in the ruling. The dissenters were Lee, Mahaffie, Meyer and McManamy.

Order New Rates June 2, 1936

The commission held that the experimental fare bases in the southern and western districts were not unreasonable.

It further held that the Pullman surcharge was unreasonable and its elimination would be required.

Extra fares as now charged for extraordinary and supplemental or alternative Pullman service were held to be not unreasonable.

The commission ordered the new rates to go into effect on June 2, 1936. The old basic fare was 3.6 cents per mile.

Commission Order

The commission said:

"Due to the high basic fare of 3.6 cents per mile, together with the Pullman charge, the passenger traffic by rail did not freely move, and is not now freely moving in the eastern district where that fare is still maintained.

"In the southern and western districts, where the reductions were made, the passenger traffic by rail is freely moving.

"The decline in the passenger traffic and revenues of the railroads, generally, before as well as

Ask Rehearing Of T.V.A. Decision

Petition Is Filed With Supreme Court At Washington On Recent Decision

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—A petition for rehearing of the TVA case, in which the supreme court upheld the right of the government to sell surplus power created at Wilson dam, was filed today in the supreme court by Forney and Joseph Johnston of Birmingham, Ala., counsel for stockholders of the Alabama Power Co.

The petition urged the high court to hold the evidence in the case in the federal district court in Alabama so that it can be reopened if the TVA goes beyond the limit of the decision.

The high court, it was pointed out, took similar action in its decision in the Appalachian coals case.

James M. Beck, former solicitor general, who argued in the TVA case, did not sign the petition for rehearing.

Metcalf (R) of Rhode Island, today appealed to the Senate Military Affairs committee for a prompt report on his resolution, proposing an investigation into the removal of Major General Johnson Hagood from command of the 8th Army Corps.

Hagood was "sent home" from his command for criticizing WPA expenditures, which he charged were wasteful and useless.

Metcalf spoke to the committee in executive session.

Seek Brutal Slayer Of Pittsburgh Girl

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 28.—In the "jungles" that dot the outskirts of the city between Oakdale and Carnegie, police today sought the brutal slayer of Elizabeth Louden, 16, whose savagely torn and naked body was found partly submerged in a stream near her home.

An autopsy revealed the girl's skull was broken in five places by blows with a heavy instrument like a miner's pick. Some of the seven wounds were three inches deep. Teeth marks were found on the girl's cheek and upper lip. There was no evidence she had been criminally attacked.

Elizabeth, who disappeared several weeks ago, had frequently told two of her friends she was being followed by a Negro while returning home from work, according to county detectives. Her attacker stripped the clothing from her body and it was

Gov. Talmadge Fills Vaults Of Treasury; With Highway Funds

By WILLIAM J. GOOD
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 28.—The vaults of the Georgia state treasury, which only yesterday were devoid of ready cash, today were crammed with currency, mute evidence that Gov. Eugene Talmadge meant business when he said he could and would run the state without an appropriation act.

Just when it appeared that the chief executive had been blocked at every turn, through the refusal of the major state depositories to recognize J. B. "Tobe" Daniel as the rightful state treasurer, the state highway department came to the rescue, placing $1,850,000 in the state's vault.

Although Gov. Talmadge refused to reveal how he would run the state on the highway department's funds, if such is indeed his intention, it was recalled that on several past occasions the highway department has made loans to other state departments.

Dramatic Episode

The filling of the state's coffers with ready cash was almost as dramatic an episode as was the governor's ouster earlier in the week of George B. Hamilton and William B. Harrison as state treasurer and comptroller-general, respectively, because of their refusal to fall in line with the governor's plans.

The move came less than 24 hours after the Fulton National Bank, one of the four state depositories in Atlanta, refused to cash a $100,000 check presented by Daniel and then defied the chief executive by refusing to surrender the state funds on deposit.

National Guardsmen in civilian dress blocked off the street in front of the Federal Reserve Bank while the money was being transferred to an armored car for transportation to the state treasury.

Coroner's Juryman In Death Of Woman Admits He Fired Fatal Shot

(International News Service)

BELLEFONTE, Pa., Feb. 28.—Lundy M. Steele, 40, fired at three crows perched on a tree, but the shot, state police said today, struck and killed Mrs. Laura Fravel, 67, a neighbor of nearby Martha Furnace.

Trooper William Tevelin said that Steele, who sat on a coroner's jury which found the woman the victim of a stray bullet fired by a "hand unknown", had confessed he fatally wounded Mrs. Fravel as she and her husband were approaching Steele's barn last Sunday morning.

Tevelin said that upon investigation police found new gun wadding in Steele's barnyard, and a recently cleaned shotgun in his home.

Steele, Tevelin claimed, was "afraid to tell the truth at the coroner's investigation" but admitted under questioning it was his shot, fired to silence noisy crows, which killed the aged woman. The "pumpkin ball" charge struck Mrs. Fravel in the back of the neck.

Japan's Army Rebels Remain In Stronghold

SHANGHAI REPORTS FIGHTING IN TOKYO

Censorship Veils Actual Situation In Tokyo—Tense Anxiety

By JAMES R. YOUNG
International News Service Staff Correspondent

TOKYO Feb. 28—Japan's army rebels apparently holding out for establishment of a Fascist-hued military dictatorship remained entrenched in their positions in the hearts of Tokyo at midnight tonight.

Despite official assurances that order was being maintained "outside the Rebel area," the snow-mantelled capital labored under grave tension, rumors flying thick and fast as those in authority clamped down a strict censorship upon all domestic and outgoing news.

It was an unprecedented crisis, the loyal faction of the army being unwilling to deal harshly with the rebels and leading to reports most of the military were partially in sympathy with the rebels' aims.

Presence of the navy's fleet in Tokyo Bay and the second fleet in Osaka Bay aroused specuulation that navy leaders might be jealous of the army's power.

Situation Confused

The political situation was confused, the most definite indication being that the army and navy might be struggling for power, with the liberal political factions, five of whose foremost leaders were slain in the revolt, definitely subdued despite their overwhelming victory in last week's election.

(Editor's Note: Shanghai received reports of fighting in Tokyo as this dispatch was cabled. They were

The center army troops is within ten miles of Amba Alagi, historic Ethiopian mountain stronghold, the Italian general staff announced today, and is pressing rapidly forward.

The same troops that drove the vast forces of Seyum and Kassa, numbering more than 100,000 out of the Tembien region with losses of about 5,000 warriors are participating in today's push.

Hemming in the two Ethiopian generals, Italian dispatches said, are the first army corps, composed of white Italian troops, and the colored army corps.

Fall of Amba Alagi, with the crushing Italian defeat of 41 years ago avenge, was predicted within a couple of days.

New Censorship Clamped On Tokyo

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—Imposition of a strict censorship cutting Tokyo off from the rest of the world may have been caused by new trouble resulting from a refusal to surrender on the part of the young Japanese army officers who led the military uprising, Japanese Ambassador Hirosi Saito said today.

Ambassador Saito said the last word he received from Tokyo was to the effect that the young army officers who were still in control of the government buildings had agreed to consider a demand by the government forces that they either surrender or prepare to be attacked. That message came late yesterday. Since that time the embassy has received no word.

NEW TAXES WORRY CONGRESS

Election Year Tax Raise Looms

Congressmen Must Provide Millions More Taxes At Order Of President

MEMBERS FEARFUL OF EFFECT ON VOTERS

By GEORGE DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—With a red hot campaign year getting well under way, congress today faced a demand from President Roosevelt for additional taxes to restore his budget to the position it occupied before $500,000,000 in AAA processing taxes were invalidated and immediate bonus payment was voted.

Congressional leaders were advised at a White House conference which continued after midnight that Mr. Roosevelt would send a message to Capitol Hill on "the fiscal condition of the country" early next week, possibly Monday.

They had his word that the actual writing of a new revenue bill would be left up to congress, but there was apprehension in some quarters as to how far the president would press for substitute taxes. Facing re-election themselves, members are reluctant to open up the touchy subject of taxation.

This was true particularly of taxes to meet the increased cost of immediate payment of the soldiers bonus. Congress has anticipated for some weeks a demand for $500,000,000 in levies to substitute for the processing taxes kicked out by the supreme court, but there is little sentiment to search out revenue to take care of the bonus.

Your Income Tax In Brief

NO. 29.

Deduction For Losses Other Than From Sale Or Exchange Of Capital Assets.

Deductions for losses are divided into four classes, and to be allowed must follow closely the wording of the income-tax law. Losses are deductible if incurred (1) in the taxpayer's trade, business, or profession; (2) in any transaction entered into for profit; (3) from fires, storms, shipwreck; or other casualties or from theft; and (4) from wagering transactions.

Business losses result, usually, from the purchase and sale of merchandise. Such losses usually are ascertained by means of inventories, which are required whenever in the opinion of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue their use is necessary to determine the income of any taxpayer.

The term "transaction entered into for profit" means any kind of business proposition. For example, a taxpayer purchases an automobile to be used solely for business purposes, and which is sold at a loss. As this is a business proposition from start to finish, the loss is deductible. But if he had purchased the automobile to be used for pleasure or convenience, the deduction would not be allowed; it was not a transaction entered into for profit.

A loss sustained in the theft of an automobile purchased for pleasure or convenience is deductible, as it falls in class 3. If, because of faulty driving but not of "willful negligence", an automobile maintained for pleasure is damaged, the taxpayer may claim the loss sustained, as it comes within the meaning of the word "casualty." Where damages result from the faulty driving of an automobile with which the automobile of the taxpayer collides, the loss occasioned the taxpayer likewise is deductible.

Losses from wagering transactions, whether legal or illegal, are deductible only to the extent of gains from such transactions. The excess of such losses over the gains is not deductible.

All losses are deductible only to the extent to which they are not compensated for by insurance or otherwise.

PRESIDENT WILL PUT TAX PROBLEM UP TO CONGRESS

tary of the Treasury Morgenthau and his advisors have a half dozen alternative tax plans to lay before the House Ways and Means committee for consideration.

Despite repeated assertions by congressional leaders that no taxes will be needed to pay the soldier's bonus, chairman Doughton (D) of North Carolina of the Ways and Means committee said today the question must be faced.

"It seems to be understood that passage of the bonus law put the matter on the same basis as if immediate payment were authorized and increased the liability of the government $120,000,000 a year," said Doughton.

Congress Responsible

"Congress is responsible for the bonus and not the president and must meet its responsibility. It probably will be necessary to have new revenue for the bonus. I do not know whether increased tax collections may take care of this situation."

There was a general agreement at the White House conference that taxes must be provided to finance the farm program for which congress authorized $500,000,000 a year, Doughton said.

Asserting that it is impossible to say exactly what amount of taxes will be necessary, Doughton said that the amount may be between 500 and 700 million dollars a year.

In addition, Doughton said, it was the general feeling of the white house conference that efforts should be made to reclaim the $200,000,000 impounded processing taxes restored to processors by the supreme court decision in the rice millers case.

"I think it was the general feeling of those in the conference that we should reclaim this money as far as it can be done in a legitimate way and with caution so that no one would be required to pay the same tax twice," said Doughton.

Some administration officials have advocated retroactive processing taxes, allowing a crdit to those who have already paid.

The president, Doubhton emphasized, will give congress full discretion to decide what taxes should be levied.

The budget of the government, he asserted, would have been balanced had it not been for the supreme court's AAA decision, the soldier's bonus and relief, and a balance would have been left in the treasury.

Reliefs needs, it was indicated by leaders attending the conference, are still uncertain.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

PRAISES CHILD BOOK

Despite the fact that I have for a number of years been a member of the Progressive Education association, and have appeared on local, regional and national programs of the association, I have not by any means gone all the way with those of its left wing. Of one thing I am certain: the progressive education movement has served as a very forceful means for stimulating creative expression in certain types of gifted children, and of encouraging teachers and parents to help the growing child gain broad perspective.

To those who have kept up with the movement, the name of Gertrude Hartman is very familiar. For a long while, you know, she was editor of the magazine Progressive Education. Recently she wrote a book. Gertrude did, entitled, "The World We Live in and How It Came to Be".

Within the understanding and vocabulary of a fifth grade child, it is interesting reading to almost any adult. I can see hundreds of fathers and mothers reading from this book to the child from eight to 12 or 15, and many families enjoying hours together reading to one another from this fascinating storehouse of wisdom and interpretation of the past. Tired business men and women nauseated with the worthlessness of the sort of printed trash that some waste their time on, will spend hours of pleasure and profit with this book. Then they will have hundreds of things to think about and talk about.

Book For Young

Author Hartman says of this, her own volume: "It is a book for young people to read just as they would read any other book, and from it get some understanding of what history is about by seeing the great social forces that have been at work making it."

On nearly every page is an interesting picture. Those relating to time, for which records are available, have been collected and reproduced from archives and museums in various parts of the world. And yet it is not a very expensive book.

"Creative Expression" is another excellent book. It was edited for the Progressive Education association by Gertrude Hartman and Ann Shumaker, being a collection of chapters which formerly appeared in the Progressive Education magazine. The articles are illustrated profusely by samples of creative expression in art, music, literature and dramatics. Among the eminent authors are Hughes Mearns, Caroline Pratt, Lucy Sprague Mitchell, Satis N. Coleman and Harriet M. Johnson.

Parents and teachers who think they have gifted children, and parents and teachers of average children, indeed, will find "Creative Expression" replete with helpful positive suggestions for stimulating the growing child's creative urges and developing his creative aptitudes.

Franklin Boy May Recover

Joseph Burgess 18, Winning Fight To Live, After Suicide Attempt

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 28.—Joseph Burgess, 18, who attempted to end his life in a local hotel after being expelled from high school in Franklin, seemed to be winning his battle with death, according to hospital attaches.

Burgess, a bullet through his body above the heart, was reported slightly improved today. After taking poison, the youth shot himself, blaming his act on despondency resulting from his expulsion for carrying whisky into the school. School authorities announced he will be reinstated, if he recovers.

Meanwhile half the student body of Franklin, Pa., high school returned to classes after starting a half-hour strike, presumably in protest against the discipline that preceded the youth's attempted suicide.

The 350 students that picketed the building today returned to school after leaders conferred with members of the school board.

Because of stories of other girls who said they were attacked by vagrants living in brick-kilns and fruit box shacks near Elizabeth's home, police concentrated their search there.

"Sign of the Teeth" Clue.

Pittsburgh, Feb. 28.—Upon the "sign of the teeth" on the victim's cheek authorities today pinned their hopes of finding the vicious slayer of Elizabeth Louden, 16, whose nude body was found partly submerged in a creek near her home.

Deep impressions of a perfect set of small, well shaped teeth were found on the girl's left cheek at the autopsy. County Detective Frank Ritz said he was convinced she was slain and mutilated by a person driven by an abnormal sex mania. She was not criminally attacked, the autopsy disclosed.

Detectives said in the teeth marks they had a clue that would point infallibly to the identification of the slayer. The girl's unusually well developed body, found 40 days after she disappeared, was well preserved by the ice and snow.

Police were puzzled by the absence of all Elizabeth's clothes, although her umbrella and pocketbook were found not far from the place where a volunteer searcher came upon the body.

I. C. C. ORDERS TWO CENT FARE FOR RAILROADS

during the depression, has been so severe that immediate, extraordinary measures are imperative in order to enable the railroads to continue in the passenger business, and to effectively compete for passenger traffic, especially for the increased intercity traffic of the future.

"The passenger market of the future looks as promising as at any time in the history of the country, but the railroads cannot hope to share reasonably in that market except at fares more nearly commensurate with the cost and convenience of travel by highway and with changed economic conditions.

"The modest success achieved by the railroads in partly stemming the decline in passenger traffic and revenue by improved service and facilities, together with favorable results from experiments with reduced fares in the southern and western districts, is convincing that the principal remaining remedy for the passenger difficulties of the railroads is a reduction in fares.

"The circumstances and conditions affecting passenger traffic in the eastern district, as compared with southern and western districts, are substantially similar and do not differ in sufficient degree to warrant the opinion that material reduction in fares in the eastern district would not result in improved passenger revenue for the eastern roads.

"Nothing herein is intended to restrain respondents from exercising their right under Section 22 of the Interstate Commerce Act to issue mileage, excursion or commutation passenger tickets.

"All outstanding Section 13 orders affecting intrastate fares which are inconsistent with the conclusions herein reached will be modified so as to permit the bases prescribed or authorized herein to become effective or to continue in effect as the case may be."

Study Decision

Washington, Feb. 28.—Immediately after the I. C. C. handed down its decision in the passenger fare case today, the board of directors of the Association of American railroads went into executive session, presumably to study the decision to determine what action the railroads will take in meeting the commission's decision.

President John Pelley of the association could not be reached for comment. In some quarters it was believed the railroads, particularly those in the eastern district, who have consistently fought any proposal to reduce passenger fares, might take the case into the courts.

Penna. R. R. Attitude

Philadelphia, Feb. 28.—Officials of the Pennsylvania railroad today declined to comment on the I. C. C.'s order reducing railroad passenger fares on the grounds they "haven't received the official order and therefore don't know what is in it."

A statement will be made, officials said, after they receive the order, size it up and study it thoroughly.

PITTSBURGH FLOOD DAMAGE IS HEAVY; RIVERS NEAR CREST

almost stationary, more than four feet above flood level of 25 feet.

The Monongahela, having carried off the ice of its tributary, the Youghiogheny, was receding, giving the harassed flood victims a sign of hope.

Damage In Lowlands

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 28.—Rising rapidly at the rate of sevenths of a foot an hour, Pittsburgh rivers, jammed with gorge ice, brought new destruction and hardship to the lowlands districts today.

The stage at the "Point" where the Allegheny and Monongahela join to form the Ohio was 27.7 feet this morning but U. S. Weather Forecaster W. S. Brotzman said a crest of at least 30 feet, five feet above flood level, was expected later in the day as the full force of the broken Parker's Landing and Mosgrove gorges hit the district.

Many Homeless

Scores have been rendered homeless by the floods, three lives were lost and hardship and suffering have been brought to hundreds as a result of the floods that followed the recent unprecedented cold wave which piled the rivers high with ice.

The Parker's Landing gorge breakup was followed by the breakup of a 13-mile stretch of ice in the Allegheny above lock No 8 at Mosgrove. It let go early this morning and an hour and a half later ran over lock No. 7 at Kittanning. Rivermen said the stream was running almost five miles an hour.

Special details of Pittsburgh police and bridge inspectors remained on duty all night for emergencies. Several communities near Mosgrove were inundated as the gorge backed up the river there. Rivermen in the Pittsburgh district prepared again to protect their craft against the rushing grinding ice-cakes.

Allegheny Rampant

Residents along the lower Allegheny, in the Pittsburgh district, viewed the situation with alarm as the ice-jammed waters threatened to surge even farther out of the channel.

Flood conditions subsided along the upper Allegheny at Foxburg, Emlenton, Parker, Oil City and Franklin as the gorges moved out. Cellars in homes in the lowlands were left with water but otherwise there was no damage, the communities reported.

Latest advices were that the Allegheny was clear from Warren south. In the streets of Emlenton, the water came within six inches of the all-time high in the disastrous floods of 1913.

Adding to the misery of the flood victims was a new cold wave which descended on the western section of the state. In many of the waterlogged homes there was no heat, light or water for drinking.

Houseboaters, except those seeking to protect their craft, abandoned their homes as the huge icecakes ground through the river. Their belongings were piled up on the shores as they waited for the waters to subside.

Some hope was given for relief when weather forecasters announced the Monongahela was expected to fall a little during the night and perhaps help the Ohio to absorb the Allegheny's excess waters. But the Monongahela kept rising this morning about four tenths of a foot an hour in stretches before the "Point."

Parker's Landing Hard Hit

At lock No. 8, the Allegheny rose eight feet in one hour as the gorge passed by. Business in Parker's Landing was virtually suspended as mud and ice ravished the countryside in one of the worst floods in the community's history.

Dynamiting was resorted to in many sections of the flood area to break up the ice jams that "backed" up the water over the surrounding countryside. Many highways in rural areas were blocked.

Traffic was impeded as the angry waters sloshed huge ice cakes onto roads bordering rivers and creeks.

The flood submerged an island near Freeport, a houseboat ripped from its moorings rammed into a bridge pier at Pittsburgh, collapsed into a pile of broken beams and sank. Another was swept away at Verona.

Police were called to rescue five persons stranded in an automobile in the inundated northside district here. Heavy property losses were expected.

EXPOSITION TO BE BROUGHT TO CLOSE SATURDAY

that has ever been held here, has drawn capacity crowds each afternoon and evening, and those who have attended have seen many new wonders in the manufactured products of local industries.

This afternoon, children of the fifth and sixth grades and those who have not previously attended from the schools are visiting the exposition.

Open Highway Near Kane After River Ice Jams

(International News Service)

WARREN, Pa., Feb. 28—WPA workers and state highway crews succeeded in opening one lane for traffic on the Kinzua-Bradford highway near Kane, Pa., this morning. The blocked highway resulted from the ice jams that broke loose in the Allegheny river yesterday afternoon.

Corydon was invaded with a heavy inundation that covered the small town with four feet of water, filling cellars but causing little damage. A huge gorge jammed the Tracy crossing covering the Warren-Salamanca highway with five feet of water.

John Timpano, Corydon merchant reported a gorge thirty feet high and three miles long moving down the river. The Allegheny highway, he said, was submerged in water for more than a half-mile.

The Allegheny in the Kane sector was reported six feet above normal, known to lumbermen as the "rafting stage."

A jam reached Cornplanter Falls today, inundating parts of the Indian reservation there. Another large ice jam was reported.

President Plans Florida Fishing Trip Next Month

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—President Roosevelt hopes to get away for a fishing trip in Florida waters about the last of March, he said today.

It is uncertain whether his message on relief needs will be dispatched before that time.

RURAL AVENUE PROJECT COMPLETION

ANNOUNCEMENT made yesterday by the head of the W. P. A. that funds are available for completion of the improvement of Rural avenue, will be welcome news to residents of the city, at least those in the North Hill section.

Work that was started on improvement of this highway from Neshannock avenue to Park avenue up the hillside, was a fine start in the right direction. But when the work was dropped a year or so ago, the road was left in an uncompleted state that marred the value of the improvement. With completion of widening the roadway its entire length, and with a proper surface being placed on the highway, it will mark a noteworthy street development here, providing as it will a safe and convenient connection between the North Hill area and the downtown section.

It is to be hoped that the thoroughfare is completed during the coming spring and summer.

And while discussing the matter of completing W. P. A. projects, why not the finishing touches on the Croton wall? There isn't much to do, but completing the top of the stone fence would work wonders in the appearance of this improvement.

AUTHORIZATION FIRST

In denying President Roosevelt's request for $1,000,000 to continue work on the forest shelter belt from Canada to Texas the House Appropriations Committee follows the same sound policy laid down regarding the Passamaquoddy and Florida ship canal projects.

The committee's position is that after using emergency funds, within his discretion, for work-relief projects, the president may not receive specific additional appropriations unless they have first been authorized by congress. The tree shelter scheme, like the others in question, is of extremely dubious value. But whatever the merits of the president's proposals, the appropriations must be made according to law and regular procedure. In this respect a president is no more privileged than any other official.

WE'VE BEEN AWAITING THIS

J. Hansell French, secretary of agriculture, said today the severe winter killed most of Pennsylvania's peach buds.

A state-wide survey by the bureau of plant industry, French said, disclosed only four growers reported their orchards escaped serious injury. French said bud damage estimates ranged from 50 to 100 per cent.

R. H. Bell, director of the bureau, predicted a peach crop far below normal and said that orchards which already have been damaged still must cope with the late spring frosts and spring and summer rains.

Counties reporting on the condition of peach buds and the percentages killed were: Adams, 10 to 95 per cent; Bedford, 100 per cent; Berks, 10 to 65 per cent; Chester, 60 per cent; Dauphin, 20 per cent; Franklin, 40 to 98 per cent; Lancaster, 90 per cent; Lawrence, 60 per cent; Perry, 100 per cent; Montgomery, 75 per cent; Northampton, 50 per cent, and York, 80 to 85 per cent.

THE TWO-THIRDS RULE

Stronger liklihood exists than heretofore that the rule requiring a two-thirds vote to nominate in the Democratic National Convention will be sharply modified, if not abandoned, this year. The rule is 104 years old and the Roosevelt forces tried frantically to abandon it in 1932, counting on a majority but doubting their ability to poll two-thirds.

Chief support for the rule comes from the Solid South, which, though no longer possessing one-third of the 1,100 delegates, nevertheless, could ordinarily combine with border states or states that have "native son" candidates to block the nomination of any individual.

Under normal circumstances a year like this, when Roosevelt and Garner are expected to be nominated on the first ballot, is tactically a good one in which to try to effect a change. Visible falling off in President Roosevelt's popularity, however, coupled with the upsetting by the supreme court of the NRA and AAA the chief New Deal agencies, militates strongly against any action that would unduly irritate the South.

Consequently there is under discussion a proposal to make the two-thirds rule effective for the first ten ballots and then to make majority rule effective. But majority rule would still be only a misnomer so long as the unit rule held and the vote of a state delegation could be cast as a whole, however divided the delegates might be. Coercion of a state delegation by a majority of itself or by instructions of a state convention is just as undemocratic as the two-thirds rule.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

HAVING BORROWED other western ideas Japan borrows and tries the revolution idea. One powerful group, civilian, would build security, far into the future. Another wants glory NOW and a year to bring it.

FORTUNATELY for Japan's present peace and future safety, her emperor, a thoughtful man of common sense, sees big Russia close by and all Europe back of Russia.

He knows this is not the moment to attempt world conquest from Asia. It would have to be World wide conquest or nothing..

IN THESE killings the Oriental "respect for age" is lacking. The finance minister, Takahashi, 81 years old, had served his country 40 years. He was killed for saying that nobody was going to attack Japan at present.

Everybody outside Japan knows that to be true, but it was treason to the military party.

EXTREME devotion of the Japanese military party to the emperor is shown in the "patriotic" reported attack on Dr. Taksukichi Minobe, professor in the Imperial university.

He dared to suggest that the mikado is merely "the highest organ of the state.' Japan's patriotism considers him a descendant of the sun goddess, omnipotent.

DETAILS from Japan, at first vague, disturbs conservative finance. A "military coup" has an unpleasant sound. Japanese bonds fell on European stock exchanges.

Military Japanese should realize that hurting their country's credit would make it difficult to finance wars that they desire.

AT WASHINGTON, Japan's ambassador, Hirosi Saito, after decoding cables, was able to announce that the outbreak had not disturbed the "fundamental form" of the Japanese government and nothing had happened to disturb relations with the United States.

There was no attempt, he said, to take over the government. This will restore confidence. Ambassador Saito talks only when he knows.

RUSSIA is interested in Japan's upheaval. If the Arm, agitators should triumph, that might mean an early beginning of the Russian-Japanese war that seems inevitable, in the long run.

WHAT'S YOUR SPECIFIC GRAVITY?

A LONG TIME ago Fred Durst, who tried to teach us science in high school, told us about the specific gravity of things....And except for a few facts about the pendulum and laws of falling bodies which I never get quite right) and that H2O is a symbol of water, that's all I seem to remember out of chemistry and physics.

But the specific gravity stuck in my memory....I do know that it is the relative density of any substance compared with water at a temperature of about 39 degrees Fahrenheit. ....Water is 1, ice is 9.1; so it floats in water. White oak is .74, willow is .50; only half the specific gravity of water....All the metals are much denser. Even aluminum is 2.7 times as great as water. Gold is more than 19 times as great, "hard to get and heavy to hold." And platinum is 21 times as dense. I had to look up these figures in a book, so I'm not trying to remember. I forgot a long time ago.)

I've never been able to use that information scientifically and everybody knows that some substances are heavier than others and some will float and others will sink to the bottom. But it has occurred to me many times that every human being has a specific gravity, too.... Some of them float in the surface of life, some sink two-thirds down, some sink way into life and have very heavy dispositions indeed.... Some laugh, some moan. Some take life easily, some push and strain. Some do not bother their heads about the meaning of existence. Some spend more time thinking about LIFE and DEATH (in big capital letters) than they do about earning their bread and butter.

I suspect that my own natural specific gravity is greater than I'd like it to be. I'm happiest when it approaches that of the cork; I'm gloomiest when it's like lead. I'd like it to be somewhere in between, half above and half below the surface of life, and most of the time I try to keep it there.

Sun sets tonight 5:49; sun rises tomorrow 6:35.

It isn't going to be long now until we hear the familiar cry "saps runnin'". And if old traditions prove to be true this is going to be a great year for the farmer with a sugar camp. It takes cold weather and hard freezing to put the old sugar bush in a mood to do it's best, and we've had plenty of both.

War reports from Ethiopia are so confusing that nobody seems to be able to get a very clear idea of what is going on. From Italian reports one would imagine that very few Ethiopians are left, but the Ethiopians tell a different story. Meanwhile civilized nations view the mass murders with horor, but are afraid to do anything lest a world war is invoked. Great is civilization.

There ought to be a good opening for the unemployed in the "probing" business. Every day we read where something or other is to be "probed". It may be a fire in a chicken coop, the robbery of a grocery, a railway wreck or an airplane mishap. And again the "probe" may be of a political nature. One gang of politicians shedding their coats to probe some other gang. With all this "probing" it's very seldom that anything is speared by the probe. That's why we believe their is a great opening for professional probers. They couldn't do any worse than the bunch of amateurs who usually do it.

The modern idea of "roughing it" seems to be to do without a heater in the old bus.

Two Scotchmen were standing at the bar of one of the town's saloons. Each was waiting for the other to offer to buy a drink, but neither made a move to do so.

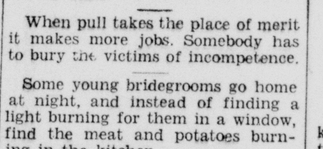

Finally, after an hour or so of idle gossip, one of the Scotchmen began telling the other a story. It was this:

"I was out hunting the other day, and had marvelous luck. A friend and I started out early in the morning and before long we were right in the heart of the deer district. All day we tramped and tramped but didn't see a deer, or even the tracks of one.

"But on the way home, just as dusk was falling, I spotted a big stag standing less than a hundred yards away. The wind favored me and the stag didn't see me, so I took careful aim and fired. The stag dropped in his tracks. I had shot him right between the yours."

"What's 'yours'?" inquired his bar companion, puzzled over his friend's reference to the spot where the bullet struck.

"I'll have scotch and soda, please," said the other quietly.

A friend tells us he knows a beautiful but dumb young wife who recently wrote a letter of complaint to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

She was asked the reason for the complaint.

"I asked them," she said, "if something cannot be done to prevent horses from being scratched."

"But, surely," her companion protested, "scratching doesn't hurt a horse. They like to be curried and scratched."

"No," replied the young wife, "I am sure that it must cause the poor animals suffering, because I heard my husband, who takes a lot of interest in horses groan in his sleep the other night about a horse being scratched."

City Assessor A. Clyde Shoaff shed a few tears as he re-called the old-fashioned winters of long ago, when he was in the livery business with twenty-one horses and a barn full of sleighs and sleds. He had several bob-sleds in which he took parties to New Wilmington and Enon, which were the popular resorts for sleighing parties in those days. This winter recalls those old days, but where would you find a bob-sled or sleigh today?", asked Shoaff. And having some remembrance of those good old days ourself we silently mingled our tears with his.

We hear a lot about plans for universal peace, but so far no one has been able to evolve a plan that will work. We would suggest that the administration look around for some one who has successfully managed a church choir. Dear Miss Markel—Would you be kind enough to say something about the "spongers" who drop in just about dinner time, obviously just for a meal? FRANCES.

Answer—You are referring, I imagine, to the professional droppers-iners-for-dinner, those pests who just happen by at meal time and are ready with their affirmative answer almost before you invite them to dine—the eat-and-run sort who have engagements immediately following dinner and suddenly depart after leaving the table.

If they only knew what their unwilling hostesses think of their behavior they would at least pretend that motives other than hunger caused them to drop in.

Those who do not wish to be included in this class will, when calling at dinner time, either refuse the invitation to dine or stay for an hour or two after they have eaten.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—As federal power plants—attached to the great dams—sweep ahead, the industrial status of the United States may change.

These power plants and dams diffuse not merely electricity over a vast area but renourish the soil. Thus, what may occur? Well, what Henry Ford once said would occur

There will be a decentralization of industry from the large cities. Industry will go to the rural regions, where a man may till the soil as well as operate the machines.

BREAK IMMINENT?

President Roosevelt is walking a tightrope in connection with the liberals. Evidently he has decided to ignore (pleasantly, with a smile) their suggestions, made in the senate.

He will have his way concerning the kind of taxation, for the liberals desire a broader income tax base, and higher taxes on "excess earnings".

And the president has pushed aside their neutrality bill. He is on again, off again in regard to housing. He has no intention of backing the 30-hour week bill, or the pure food and drugs act. Nor will he take any measures to curb the supreme court.

The president evidently believes that the Republicans will nominate a Tory, and his "safest" policy is to "slide" toward the election. Where will the liberals go, anyway (if Senator Borah is not nominated)? And where will Al Smith, on the reactionary side, go—anymore than Governor Eugene Talmadge of Georgia?

The campaign of the president will be based on: "He did better than anybody else could."

INJUSTICE

Congress evidently will not enact the Kerr bill prior to March 1. The Kerr bill would give the government discretionary powers in deporting law-abiding aliens. On March 1, therefore, 2,862 aliens, all good members of the communities, and approximately 4,000 American-born wives and children face deportation and separation. Why? "Illegal entry." And that may mean nothing more than that certain technicalities were not complied with.

LOOKING BACKWARD

Katherine Cornell, the noted actress, has revived George Bernard Shaw's "Saint Joan"—that remarkable play based on the Maid of Orleans. It ranks, probably, as the great British dramatist's best work.

Now critics are beginning to wonder whether the play actually looks backward so much as forward.

When state and church combined to burn this young girl at the stake, they did it in literal protection to themselves. So goes the Shaw thesis. Unknowingly she had propounded two new doctrines—nationalism (which meant the fall of the feudal barons) and protestantism (which meant denial of the church's dominion).

Church, at least, tried to save the girl, but the British feudal barons, on French soil with their armies, would have none of it.

Shaw seems to be saying that barons still exist today and they have no alternative, if they are to save themselves, except to have those who advocate new doctrines put out of the way. It makes no difference of the advocates of new ideas will be canonized later, and be worshipped among the saints. The danger is now.

Shaw has a remarkable epilogue to his play. Joan visits with her tormentors 25 years later. They all worship her. But when she asks what would occur if she were to return, the old fear arises. They tell her they would not act one whit differently.

The world remains a place of bitter struggle. Political heretics never are saints until they are forever dead.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

JUST THEIR FEE

Two sailors walked into a port city stationery store the week before Saint Valentine's Day, freighted with a solemn commission. A sailor pal, detained aboard ship in the brig, had entrusted them with $1.50 and instructions to buy five valentines for five different sweethearts.

One sweetheart lived away around on the opposite coast, and for her the two agents bought a nice costly mushy one. For a local sweetheart they bought, giggling, an arrow-shot picture of a girl who would like to have "two sailors and keep them in a cage."

"Anyhow, she's got one in a cage right now," tittered the sailor agents, thinking of their poor pal who was sitting in the brig and mooning about his five sweethearts.

Then those two sailor agents decided there was no use spending a barrel of dough on the other sweethearts, who were scattered up and down the coast.

"We'll hold out 50 cents and have a couple of drinks on these gals," they agreed. So their pal, roosting mournfully in the brig and doing his valentine shopping by proxy, expended only 20 cents per sweetheart instead of the 30 cents he had budgeted.

I've an apple tree out there
That will blossom with the spring.
There's a rose bed, wondrous fair,
That will be a lovely thing—
Fragrant monuments and rare
To a soul that's taken wing.

All his life was spent with these:
Orchards gay and gardens small,
Plants and vines and flowering trees,
For he knew and loved them all.
Now undying memories
Shall the summertime recall.

Men there are whose lives are told
In some fleeting hour of fame;
Some pass on and granite cold
Must perpetuate the name;
But he'll live in marigold
And tritoma's scarlet flame.

These his monuments will be:
Trees where wild canaries sing,
Roses beautiful to see,
Friendly walls where ivies cling.
Thus he'll live in memory
And return with every spring.

Rural Extension Policy Is Changed

Modification Elsewhere Similar To That Of Pennsylvania Power Co. Last Spring

Power companies throughout the state have just announced a change in the rural extension policy which will benefit a large number of customers served from rural lines built by the companies.

The modification announced by these companies is somewhat similar to the step taken by the Pennsylvania Power Company, locally, last April. it is announced here.

For some time the companies have been discussing with farm groups the possibility of modifying the rural extension rule and last year, in the absence of a definite agreement, the Pennsylvanina Power Company went ahead, without extensive negotiation, with its policy of reducing the rural line guarantees from year to year, after the expiration of the initial three-year contract period. Thus, thru the local company's policy, a rural customer, at the end of three years, receives a 20% reduction in his guarantee. At the end of the fourth year an additional 15% reduction, and each year thereafter an additional 10% reduction, which ultimately reduces the guarantee to a standard rural line minimum.

The plan announced by the other companies in the state at the present time would make no reduction in the guarantee until the end of the seventh year, at which time it would be reduced to 1% per month of the construction cost of the line.

side, allowing spectators to see the new bears, as they arrive, while the mother sleeps on. The new-born baby of a 1,000-pound grizzly weighs less than half a pound.

Natuer is kind to mother bears. Suppose human mothers could have strong, healthy babies weighing one ounce.

THREE MOOSE, "Bessie, Sally and Buddy", only moose family in captivity, sent to the New York sportsmen's show, look around in amazement. You could not make them believe that small man built all they see. Some men refuse to believe that a greater power built all that the telescope shows us.

Count Haugwitz-Reventlow, married to Barbara Hutton, formerly Princess Mdivani, says:

"The new baby is cute, I am tickled to death; it will grow up to be a Dane and inherit my Danish title. I shall see to that."

British newspapers suggested that the baby might be English, as it was born in London. There is no serious talk about its becoming an American baby, although the mother said she would like that.

At least, the dollars will remain American.

A SERIOUS student of finance, Mordecai Ezekiel, "economic adviser to the secretary of agriculture", predicts $2,500 minimum yearly income for each family. Later, it could be $2,400 a year for each working individual.

Nothing is impossible: "money" is only a word. The important question is, how much could the family get for its $2,500 a year?

You could get a good deal in England when sheep could be bought for a few pence, an ox for a little more. What will your money BUY? is the question.

BY PERMISSION of Columbia Broadcasting System, Earl Browder of the Communist party, member of the "Communist Internationale," will tell without charge, what Communism thinks it wants. That is the English method.

"Let them talk, it is better than letting them shoot."

Sitting on the human safety valve is dangerous.

In London's Hyde Park you may say anything you like, if you don't block traffic. England broke her rule, however, when she refused to relay Mussolini's broadcast about Ethiopia from Italy to the United States.

THE LAST three years snow removal has cost New York 21 million dollars. Some American, not necessarily an engineer, might invent something to save at least half of that money.

There would be no complaint of "taking work from unemployed." Experience shows that the unemployed do not want to shovel snow.

SIR NORMAN ANGELL, Nobel peace prize winner, thinks that the United Stabtes cannot stay out of the next big war. In this case, a British wish is father and mother to the thought. Norman Angell might prove to be right if we should again have a supreme egotist in charge of the country. In the last experience, Uncle Sam was swindled out of ten thousand million dollars and called Uncle Shylock, for suggesting payment, but we learn slowly.

BELGIUM, worried about another German invasion, wants "an understanding with the powers".

The best she can hope for is probably another scrap of paper. But she might build a thousand planes—she can afford them—and say to Germany:

"When your first soldier crosses the frontier, these planes start for Berlin."

EYE IS EXPLODED BY INTENSE COLD

VANDERGRIFT, Pa., Feb. 28.—Joseph Robinson, of Freeport, has decided to keep his eye "on the weather" and also "out of the weather."

Robinson attributes the explosion of his glass eye to the intense cold that prevailed at the time. It was a painful experience as the muscles and tissue were drawn into the vacuum that was created.

Stockholders Change Name Of Company

SHARON, Pa., Feb. 28.—Stockholders of the Sharon Steel Hoop company here today revised the firm's capital structure and changed the name of the company to the Sharon Steel Corporation. No discussion of a merger plan with Pittsburgh Steel Company took place at the meeting.

Stockholders voted to refund a $5,328,000 bond issue by issuing $2,000,000 4½ per cent convertible debentures and 40,000 shares of 5 per cent convertible preferred stock.

Tobacco was first raised in Connecticut between 1640 and 1660. Its cultivation was undertaken because of a law restricting the use of tobacco to that grown in the colony.

Orders Given For WPA Cut-Down As Funds Grow Thin

Must Make Money Last Until End Of Fiscal Year On July 1

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—Orders to cut down on the government's $4,880,000,000 work-relief program have been issued by Harry L. Hopkins, WPA administrator.

State administrators who have been providing more than their allotment of jobs under WPA have been instructed to reduce employment to their actual allotments under the program providing for 3,500,000 jobs for employables formerly on the relief rolls.

100,000 Must Go

The program has been providing 3,662,000 persons with jobs, according to Department of Labor reports. Of these, WPA has provided 3,060,000. CCC, which had 527,000 employed at its peak, has dropped to 375,000 men. All other governmental agencies have provided only 227,000 jobs.

The WPA cut-down may cause the discharge of about 100,000 workers throughout the country, a spokesman said today. But as other agencies—WPA, the war department, navy, commerce and other departments—increase employment on heavy construction projects WPA will be reduced in proportion.

Make Money Last

"It's a case of making the money last until July 1, end of the fiscal year," a WPA official said. "At the preesnt rate of employment, WPA funds would not last."

WPA has received $1,400,000,000 of the $4,880,000,000 fund—and on 35 per cent of the vast fund, has been providing 80 per cent of the jobs. President Roosevelt is not expected to ask congress for more than $2,000,000,000 for work-relief during the fiscal year starting July 1.

Rome Reports New Victory

Capture Of Amba Alagi, Giant Mountain Fortress, Is Reported

By LINDESAY PARROTT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ROME, Feb. 28.—Italian troops on the northern Ethiopian front have captured Amba Alagi, giant mountain fortress, it was announced officially today.

The capture was announced officially in a special military communique, No. 139.

The announcement of the capture followed a military communique from Marshal Pietro Badoglio, Italian commander, intimating an offensive against Amba Alagi was underway. The communique said:

"Since yesterday our troops on the Eritrean front have been on the move."

This was regarded as indication capture of the stronghold—major objective of the Italian forces in the north after Adowa—was effected after an intensive 24-hour push, climaxing a southward drive of several weeks.

The communique added the frequently-repeated statement:

"There is nothing to report on the Somali front."

Seek To Settle Reynolds Estate

Petition Asks That Maryland Court Approve $30,000,000 Division

TWO CHILDREN TO GET BIG FORTUNES

(International News Service)

BALTIMORE, Feb. 28.—Property obtained at the price of "peace and honor" of the Reynolds family is not worth the sacrifice, lawyers representing the heirs of the Z. Smith Reynolds estate told Circuit Judge Eli Frank. They petitioned the court to approve the division of the $30,000,000 fortune as agreed upon by all concerned and approved by the North Carolina courts.

Approval of Maryland's court is necessary because the estate is administered by the Safe Deposit and Trust Co. here.

"What difference does it make whether an infant gets $9,000,000 or $10,000,000?" one counsel said. "This settlement is as good a settlement as it is possible to arrive at with all these complicated factors."

Ask For Approval

Speaking of the two children of young Reynolds who was found shot to death in his home in 1932, one counsel asked if they must be "thrust not only into expensive litigation but into scandalous litigation" if the court refuses to sustain the North Carolina action.

The agreement the Maryland court is asked to approve gives Anne Cannon Reynolds, 2d, his daughter by a previous marriage 37½ per cent of the estate; his brother and two sisters, known as the "Reynolds heirs", to divide 37½ per cent, and his posthumous son, Christopher Smith Reynolds, born to his second wife, the former Libby Holman, a torch singer, 25 per cent.

Libby Gets $750,000

The brother and sisters, who have, or will receive their share of the late R. J. Reynolds' tobacco fortune in amounts equal to that bequeathed the late Smith Reynolds, are understood to have agreed to give Libby Holman $750,000 out of their share of the husband's estate. It was reported here the brother and sisters intend to start a charitable foundation with the money they will receive under Smith's estate.

Asserts Chaos In Japan To Subside

California Japanese Teacher Sees Loss To Nation By Assassinations

(International News Service)

PALO ALTO, Cal., Feb. 28.—Chaos will subside and order will reign in Japan within three days.

From the detached vantage point of his campus home library, Yamato Ichihashi, an outstanding authority on Japan in this country, made that prophecy today.

"But," he added, "the loss to Japan on wise counsel, now forever silenced, of five elder statesmen, will be felt far longer."

He referred to Premier Keisuke Okada, silenced along with four other liberal leaders in the rebel insurrection in Tokyo.

Censorship, Ichihashi, who teaches Japanese history at Stanford university, pointed out, has thus far precluded the outside world's receiving any but conflicting reports of the warlike scene in Tokyo.

He characterized the entire insurrection as "the insanity of a small group of radical, ambitious young men."

Plan First Aid Stations On Roads

Expect 143 "Stations Of Mercy" On State Highways This Summer

RED CROSS WILL AID IN PROGRAM

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 28.—By the early summer months, a web of 143 "stations of mercy" will have been established on Pennsylvania's highways as part of the nationwide chain of Red Cross highway first aid stations, it was learned today.

This was revealed by Lee Hanchett, Red Cross field representative in Western Pennsylvania, who said the Red Cross and the state, spurred by the "wholesale slaughter" on the highways, were rapidly completing plans to make the roads safe for travel and ready with first aid stations to meet any emergency.

Twenty-nine such stations have already been established in Pennsylvania which is topped only by Massachusetts where 38 emergency units were in operation, he said, adding that Ohio, though it has only 12 stations open, leads the nation in the number of highway units planned, with a total of 263.

Bridges Costing Less Than $2500 To Be Built By State

HARRISBURG, Feb. 28.—Warren VanDyke, secretary of highways, announced today that, effective immediately, any new highway bridge which, exclusive of approaches, will cost less than $2500 will be built by department forces instead of by contract.

This decision was reached after careful study of smaller jobs, many of which have failed to attract bids when advertised.

Bridges of values greater than $2500 will be built by contract as has been the custom, the only exceptions to this rule being in cases where the stated sum is exceeded by only a slight margin and substantial savings can be made if the work is undertaken within the department.

Under the new plan the secretary hopes to speed work on smaller spans by eliminating advertising which had proven ineffective. Thus a saving in time, and perhaps in money, can be made on smaller spans; while competitive bids will assure the same desired features on larger contracts.

PLANT SHIPMENTS

MAKING IT EASY FOR THE CHILDREN

"By means of pictures, maps, slides, and moving pictures in the class rooms," Miss Thralls said, "we are enabling the students to visulize the world instead of memorizing it."

HANEY'S

OPPOSITE POST OFFICE ON THE PUBLIC SQUARE

On Court House Hill

Resignation of Mary Snare, as judge of election in the first precinct of the fourth ward, Ellwood City, was presented to court today. It was accepted and upon petition presented by residents of the district, Judge James A. Chambers appointed J. Calvin Osborne to fill the vacancy.

Who wants the job collecting taxes in Little Beaver township? The constable does not want it, and the county commissioners have so far been unable to get any one to take it. The commissioners have experienced difficulty in getting tax collectors in some of the other districts but Little Beaver still has a job for somebody.

County commissioners had Janitor Clifford James inspect the fire extinguishers scattered around the county buildings yesterday and it was found that the chemicals in most of them had lost their kick. So far as known it has been ten or eleven years since the extinguishers were charged. Directions were given to James to have them put in first class shape. The extinguishers are hand affairs, that are to be used in cases of emergency.

Registration Clerk, Thomas Edmunds, is now preparing street lists of the voters in the City of New Castle. A list was prepared and published previous to the last election, but the law requires that it be published again this spring. Street lists make considerable trouble and expense, and are not much use to anybody except the politicians. Formerly they had to copy the lists at their own expense which made them sick at heart and flat in the pocketbook, so they got an act put through the legislature to saddle the bill on the taxpayers. The street list is another example of the extravagance in government that could well be eliminated.

Among the cases which are to be argued at court during the coming week are the following: Maybelle D. Ringer against the Penn-Ohio Coach lines, motion for new trial. Rachael Bowden against the County of Lawrence, motion of new trial. Gustav Bartha against Martha Roth, motion for new trial. L. H. Weitz against the Wampum School District, motion for new trial. Royce Raubenolt against Morris Newmark, affidavit of defense, raising question question of law. Clayton W. Cameron against Lucille Cameron, for bill of particulars. John Lapatka against the Borough of Ellwood City, exceptions to bill of costs. Borough of New Wilmington against New Wilmington Telephone Company, statutory demurrer. A. B. Stoner against Lawrence E. Twentier, petition to open judgment. Pearl M. Mayberry against James Mayberry, motion to amend. County of Lawrence against Calvin C. Boyd and others, petition for council fees. Fourth ward, Ellwood Athletic Clubs, petition for charter.

Returns of personal property are now being filed at the county commissioners office. Personal property includes mortgages, notes, article of agreement, and other evidences of debt, on which interest is being drawn. In addition to this personal property return another one is required this year, which is to be filed with the state department. On it the taxpayers lists his personal property, the same as on the one which goes to the county commissioners office. On the return to the county commissioners office there is a four mill tax, which goes to the county; on that which is filed with the state there is a one mill tax for the use of the state The money which is to collected the one mill tax is supposed to be used for relief purposes. In addition to the taxes assessed on personal property the taxpayers must dig down into his pockets for a county tax on real estate, city tax on real estate and school tax on real estate. Little wonder citizens are becoming tax conscious.

NAVAL NOTES

By M. L. NIXON
Naval Recruiter, Second Floor Federal Building

At 10:30 Thursday, February 20, the U. S. S. Smith was launched from the ways at the Mare Island, California, Navy Yard. The Smith is one of the sixteen 1,500 ton destroyers built or being built under the recovery program. The ship was named in memory of Lieut. Joseph Bryant Smith, who commanded the U. S. Congress when that ship was sunk by the Confederate Ram, Merrimac, at Hampton Roads, Virginia March 8, 1862.

Mrs. Nancy S. Williams was official sponsor of the ship. From the earliest days of sea craft, launching ceremonies have been performed to initiate the ship to the sea. There is a record of christening ceremonies of the date 2100 B. C. At different places and at different times these ceremonies have taken various forms and had various significances. In Tahiti it was once the custom to shed human blood at launching ceremonies. The Chinese have for centuries had very elaborate launchings with the customary ceremonies. Wine was used in the early days, later the Romans used water as a token of purification in the solemn priestly blessing.

Launching ceremonies have always had a religious significance. In early times, ships were always named after saints, shrines were placed on board. These shrines were gradually replaced by figureheads. Modern launchings are said to have been originated by Queen Victoria, that is the breaking of a bottle of champagne across the bow. During the dry days in the United States that have just passed, water had to be submitted but, after repeal, champagne once more took its rightful place.

DEMAND PROBE OF MAJ. GEN. HAGOOD'S OUSTER

Rule Of Terror Charge Is Made

Administration Spokesmen Seek To Quiet Storm Caused By Dismissal

OFFICER PUNISHED FOR HIS CRITICISM

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28—Bipartisan demand for a public inquiry into the removal of Maj. Gen. Johnson Hagood from command of the eighth Corps Area for criticising government expenditures, increased today with Republicans denouncing it as an illustration of an administration "rule of terror" against critics of its policies.

Administration spokesmen sought to quiet the storm, apparently in the belief President Roosevelt planned some conciliatory move to end the controversy. This was hinted in a number of quarters.

Senator Metcalf of Rhode Island, denouncing Hagood's removal as, "unwarranted terrorism" called on the senate military affairs committee to act promptly on his resolution, proposing a senate inquiry into the affair. The committee met in routine session today and administration spokesmen predicted no action would be taken.

Hagood distinguished for brilliant war and peace time service, was removed from his command as punishment for criticising administration spending before a house appropriations subcommittee. He charged money was squandered on useless, temporary projects and refused for worthy permanent public works.

Cat Pole Setter Is Frozen Stiff

(International) News Service)

HAGERSTOWN, Md.., Feb. 28.—Take it from George Coleman—his pet cat really was "frozen stiff".

During the recent period of bitterly cold weather, the cat was chased up a pole by a dog. Presently the dog tired and went home, and then began the efforts of Coleman and his friends to dislodge the cat.

Kitty couldn't be persuaded. She stuck stubbornly to her perch. Finally so cold it could no longer keep a balance on the pole, the cat toppled to the ground, stiff and apparently frozen.

First aid treatment, including immersion in a bucket of cold water, brought the pet back to life. At last reports, it was as bold as ever with the neighborhood dogs.

To Warn Miners When Danger Lurks

(International News Service)

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Feb. 28.—A device to warn miners of caves was described here recently as "unbelievable simple," by Harry Northrup of Pennsylvania State College.

Northrup, extension service director of the mineral industrial school, said an instrument being developed at the state laboratories now should give at least 10-day notice of coming falls of the mine walls.

He said the instrument works something like the seismograph, with a needle recording earth movements from two "telescopic pipes" attached to a spring and mounted in a mine tunnel. The needle he said would record "the rate of subsidence" within the mine.

QUAKERSTOWN, Pa., Feb. 28—All the gold isn't in "them thar hills," according to Mrs. John McGourney, who recently "struck gold" in the gizzard of a chicken she was dressing.

Cutting open the gizzard, she found bright yellow metal mixed with sand. She took the mixture to a Quakerstown jeweler who told her the metal was gold—and now speculation is rife as to whether there is gold in the ground of Trumbauersville.

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28—Secretary of War George H. Dern does not intend to reinstate Maj. Gen. Johnson Hagood or otherwise modify the order removing the veteran army officer from his command and sending him home to "wait orders."

This was learned today following the visit to the War Department of a congressional delegation headed by Chairman McSwain, of the house military affairs committee, which sought to induce Secretary Dern and chief of staff, General Malin Craig, to reconsider the disciplinary action taken against General Hagood for his recent criticism of administration spending policies.

Although the congressional tempest over Hagood's removal was increasing in fury and even Democratic leaders in congress were urging his reinstatement, the army intended to stand pat on the disciplinary action taken against the outspoken commander.

American Can Exhibit Shows Varied Product

Great Variety Of Tin Containers Manufactured By American Can Company

FIFTY-ONE BIG PLANTS IN GROUP

The American Can Company exhibit in the New Castle Industrial Exposition shows a varied line of cans manufactured by the company.

The New Castle Plant is one of the fifty-one manufacturing plants covering the entire United States, Canada and the Hawaiian Islands. The New Castle Factory was established in 1907 and has been in operation ever since that date. It serves the community by giving employment to between 200 and 250 people and all through the depression years employees have been working steady.

The exhibit shows tin cans for almost everything. The American Can Company does not pack any product itself. There is scarcely an aspect of our daily lives to which it does not contribute additional comfort and satisfaction. Tin cans can take it.

The Can Factory at New Castle uses only tin plate that is manufactured by the Shenango Works of the American Sheet and Tin Plate Company, hauling daily from the tin plant by means of electric truck all the tin plate necessary for the manufacturing of cans.

Romance In Cans

There is romance, indeed, in the development of the tin can since the day, over one hundred and twenty years ago when foods were first preserved in bottles closed with corks. At that time it seemed impossible ever to find a material that should combine the almost contradictory requirements of an ideal food container.

How could it be light in weight, yet strong, able to withstand rough handling and long journeys without damage? Inexpensive, yet easily filled, and sealed, both rapidly and faultlessly, and remain air-tight indefinitely? It must be adaptable to products of all sizes and shapes. It must conduct heat rapidly, so that the contents may be quickly heated and cooled. The material must not affect, in the slightest degree, the wholesomeness or flavor of the food. And it must be cheap enough to make the canning of foods an economical method of preservation.

Yet the modern tin can fully meets these difficult requirements: A "steel container with a pure tin coating" could be a more accurate description, for only one and a half per cent., by weight, of a tin can is tin, the rest is steel.

During the year 1935 there were packed approximately forty-five million, six hundred and fourteen thousand cases of 24 equivalent No. 2 cans for peas and corn and about sixteen million of No. 3 for tomatoes, which represents approximately one billion and a half cans for these three products. In addition to this there are millions of evaporated milk cans, vacuum coffee cans and refinery-sealed motor oil cans, dirt-proof and tamper-proof, and many other kinds of cans too numerous to mention and last, but not least, the new Keglined beer cans.

The district office of the American Can Company is in Chicago and the general office is in New York. The neighboring sales office is located in the Westinghouse Building, Pittsburgh. The local organization consists of B. H. Kannenberg, superintendent; H. H. Pearce, master mechanic; William Schoenfeld, general foreman; K. B. Norris, efficiency manager and Albert Ellis, chief clerk.

Firemen, Foremen Trained By State

HARRISBURG, Feb. 28.—Vocational education has received a considerable amount of emphasis since the inception of the educational extension service to the communities a few years ago, Dr. Lester K. Ade, superintendent of public instruction, said today.

The program anticipates the establishment of a course of instruction in every local volunteer fire department in Pennsylvania, as well as other classes in foremanship, cost accounting and industrial economics.

More than 100 classes for the training of members of local volunteer fire departments will be established before March 1.

My New York
By James Aswell

(Copyright, 1936, by Central Press Assn.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—Randomusing: Along Broadway about midnight, with the advent of sudden thaw and Longacre Square a sea of slush with pedestrians jumping wildly to avoid sprays of dirty water.... Observation: so few New Yorkers wear overshoes....A peep-in at the Hollywood and there I chat with Bob Hope, the young comedian of the "Follies", who is as unaffected and healthy a youngster as you could find in all the mazes of showbusiness....At the same table is Bert Lahr, who sits gloomily meditative over his glass of seltzer—a Pagliacci true to type.

But my business is to chat with Marion Martin, in order to pen a screed for another place....Why not grist for two mills?....She is just 21 and has been a showgirl for seven years, likes being a showgirl although she once planned to be a lady doctor....Her aspect is rather dismaying, with hair so white it is bluish... But she says most men, upon meeting her, exclaim, "For Heaven's sake! I thought you were a dumbbell and you're almost smart."....She underlines, modestly, the "almost".

Meanwhile across the way struts Billy Rose, with a party and a huge cigar, and why shouldn't he strut, with "Jumbo" a hit and his coffers filling?....And Carmel Meyers, of old silent picture fame, is here too; how these movie ladies do keep their looks!....Benny Fields, too, who wrote so many song-hits and about whom one day I shall compose a piece.

But I leave at length and nose into the Paradise, a rival whoopery across the way....Here the Yacht club boys make merry with naughty lyrics....The implacable Dave of Dave's Blue Room gives me a hello. ....I scan the room and, lo!, there sits Mr. Bert Lahr again, moodily, staring into his seltzer....Albert, suavest of the headwaiters, engages me in confab and asks why I have been so scarce around the hoof-and-swallow palaces....My reply is that my readers are sensible folk who know enough is enough and that an occasional visit is all they want, in life or in such chatter as this.

On the way out I meet a newspaper reporter colleague of long standing—who several months ago confided to me that two chorus lassies had broken his heart in succession and that he was off the sorority for life....On his arm tonight is half of a dance team from one of the blazingest cabarets....So it goes. ....Incidentally, gentlemen who should know insist that the girls imported from Paree to embellish the "Folies de Femmes" at the French Casino are the most maidenly and discreet of all chorines in the hamlet....They must have formal introductions, plus the okay of the chaperone of the troupe before accompanying a swain to a sandwich parlor after the show.

Up Fifty-first street then and I note a late light burning in a dressing room of the Roxy....In it, feet propped high, is a scrubwoman reading a magazine....I plow on against the dark and the wet, wondering vaguely whether I should hail a cab and go home to bed or try to see that night watchman for Rockefeller Center who is rumored to be such a richly humorous fellow, with great appeal for columns like this....I let my thoughts roam to a Florida beach, a little cove halfway between Pompano and Boca Raton, which would just do for a nice cottage, a typewriter, books and a huffy bye-bye to Broadway....Will I arrive there some day?....In any case, it is high time I arrived home so I hail a cab.

AROUND CITY HALL

Arrangements have been made to have the city hall office directory put in condition so that people seeking councilmen or other officers of the city government will not be compelled to wander from floor to floor and office to office. The directory will be placed on the first landing of the first floor.

Employes of the Bell Telephone company have removed from the third floor, municipal building, to the first floor, a telephone booth. It was rare indeed when anyone trudged three flights of stairs to telephone but with the booth in plain sight of everybody who enters the building they can avail themselves of a private chat if they so desire.

Street department employes will probably soon take care of a depression in the cartway of North Mill street, another near the P. & L. E. railroad crossing in South Jefferson street. A utility company will probably replace brick in North Mercer street where the street was opened some days ago to repair frozen water pipes.

Edna Reimold no longer takes the stenographic notes during council meeting. Instead, City Clerk C. Ed Brown takes charge of all of the clerical affairs and notes. It is reported that Mayor Charles E. McGrath believes telephones should be answered while council is in session. As he is president of council and Mrs. Reimold is his secretary both were out of the mayor's office for periods ranging from an hour to longer every day council session met.

Farm Beautification Plan Pays Dividend

HARRISBURG, Feb. 28.—The Department of Forests and Waters today endeavors to answer a question that is frequently raised by motorists passing through Pennsylvania.

The question: Why are so many Pennsylvania farm houses surrounded by sturdy Norway spruce trees 50 to 75 feet tall, and 12 to 15 inches in diameter, each bearing a striking similarity to the other in age and size?

The answer: These splendid specimens, so striking in appearance are products of seedlings secured by thrifty Pennsylvania farmers 60 years ago at the Centennial Exposition held in Philadelphia in 1876 and all were planted at approximately the same time.

EAST BROOK ROAD

Delores Collins, freshman of the Scott township high school, was absent from school last Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bluedorn and son were callers in New Castle one day recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl McFarland and children Carl and Doris of Volant spent last Tuesday with relatives here.

The Ladies Missionary society of the Unity Baptist church met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Bertha Eakin.

Martha Dean of the Harlansburg road is staying with her grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Dean.

The pupils of McFarland school and the pupils of McCaslin school each wrote essays on Abraham Lincoln and exchanged. The ones out of McCaslin school were Juanita Blair, eighth grade; Edyce Lou Benson, fifth grade; Walter Jeffers, sixth grade.

Lockley Firm Has Operated Steadily Here

Manufacture Number Of Articles Of Own Design For Industrial Field

WELL EQUIPPED SHOP MAINTAINED

One of the smaller industrial concerns of the city, yet one which has grown in size in the fifteen years of its existence, is the Lockley Machine Company, which has an exhibit of its products at the Industrial Exposition.

The Lockley Machine Company was founded in 1921 by local men as a machine shop to fill the local requirements for industrial maintenance. It has added gradually to its equipment to meet this changing and diversified repair and machine building demand in this locality. It is at present as well equipped with modern and efficient machinery as any plant of its size in the district.

Its lathe equipment will handle any round turning up to 36 inches. Flat surface and planer work can be handled including 30 by 30 inches and 84 inch surfaces. Millers, shapers, slotters and boring machines handle the gear, die and intricate work. Production work is handled by turret lathes, punch presses, and drill presses.

Besides industrial maintenance and repair work, the company builds large and small automatic machinery, dies, and tool work. It manufactures precision wood turning lathes, a speed reducing unit for light industrial and farm work, a premier gas valve and carburetor for furnaces and automobile engines of its own design.

The company, which is headed by H. W. Lockley, has operated steadily since 1921 and feels that prosperity can only be obtained by solving each problem as it comes up as it pertains to business, and by patronizing home industries and merchants.

Some Fast Time On Hand Sleds

(International News Service)

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Feb. 28.—Old timers who are reluctant to mention the element of speed when belittling things modern in comparison with the "old days" recently forgot their timidity on the subject when the question of sled-riding arose.

Charles D. Wright claimed he travelled 130 miles per hour down Scrabbletown hill 40 years ago on a good old fashioned sled.

Unruffled when confronted with the fact that the bob sled record set at Lake Placid was only 7 miles per hour, Wright said:

"That may be so, young man, but the course at Lake Placid isn't old Scrabbletown hill 40 years ago."

Man On Mountain Has Lonesome Time Thirty-Eight Days

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Feb. 28—It's hard to believe in this day of swift transportation and unlimited communication facilities, but Frank Nethkin, 68, who lives alone in the Perry county hills, went for 38 days at his fire tower without seeing another human being.

A fire tower keeper for the department of forests and waters, Nethkin had gone from January 8 to February 16 without having personal contact with other humans. Snow was drifted many feet deep around his mountain home, and even on the level lay 35 inches in depth.

Food was dropped to the woodsman by a plane sent out from Harrisburg. Nethkin's firts conversation with anyone other than himself—except by telephone—was with Charles Long, state fish warden, who trudged on snowshoes to visit Nethkin after he heard of the plane visit.

FIRST GAS LIGHTS

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Feb. 28 — The 100th anniversary of gas lighting in this city was observed here recently. Forty-six street lights and 19 house lights were turned on in 1836 in the first gas illumination. John E. Zimmerman, president of the United Gas Improvement company, related. PROFITS FROM BALL

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 28.—Net profits from President Roosevelt's birthday ball here January 30 reached $10,000, a final accounting showed. Seven thousand dollars was distributed among local institutions and the remainder was given to the National Research Council for infantile paralysis.

2 Things to Do

TO EASE COLD INSTANTLY

Discomfort and Aches Go Almost Instantly This Way

1. Take 2 BAYER ASPIRIN Tablets and drink a full glass of water. Repeat treatment in 2 hours.

2. If throat is sore, crush and stir 3 BAYER ASPIRIN Tablets in ⅓ glass of water. Gargle twice. This eases throat rawness and soreness instantly.

THE pictured directions above show perhaps the quickest, simplest and most modern method yet discovered to combat cold and sore throat.

Your own doctor will approve this way. Millions of people have discarded "cold killers" and patent nostrums for this modern way. It relieves the average cold almost as fast as you caught it.

Note that all you do is this.

Two Bayer Aspirin tablets with a full glass of water.

Three Bayer Aspirin tablets, crushed and dissolved in ⅓ glass of water as a gargle. Gargle with this mixture twice, holding your head well back to permit this medicated gargle to reach the irritated membranes of the throat. The Bayer Aspirin you take internally acts to fight a cold almost instantly. AND — eases the aches and pains that accompany most colds.

The gargle acts instantly like a local anesthetic to soothe pains in the throat and to ease throat irritation.

Try this way. You will be amazed at how quickly you can ease a cold. Be sure, though, to get Genuine BAYER ASPIRIN tablets. They dissolve almost instantly in the stomach. Hence start working almost instantly. And also, dissolve thoroughly enough in water for use as a gargle.

Why BAYER Aspirin Works So Fast

Drop a Bayer Aspirin tablet into a glass of water.

By the time it hits the bottom of the glass it is disintegrating.

In 2 Seconds By Stop Watch

A Genuine Bayer Aspirin tablet starts to disintegrate and go to work.

What happens in these glasses happens in your stomach — Genuine BAYER Aspirin tablets start "taking hold" of pain a few minutes after taking.

Milk Control Violators To Be Arraigned

Turtle Creek Justice Of Peace Will Get Cases Against Nearly 200 Violators

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 28—In a determined move to regulate the milk industry in Western Pennsylvania nearly 200 dealers, salesmen, solicitors, merchants and truck drivers were to be arraigned tomorrow before a Turtle Creek justice of the peace, charged with violating the milk control act, it was learned today.

The arrests were made following an eight-months investigation, conducted by Ralph R. Taylor, Wilkinsburg, chief investigator for the milk control board in the 12 counties of the Southwestern area, and William G. Brittner, Erie.

Price Cutting

Most cases, it was revealed, involved price cutting, while it was charged that many other dealers were operating without licenses and some had refused to open their books and records for inspection.

The milk control act was intended to give the board the power to regulate prices and eliminate unfair competition and unprofitable business practices, said Taylor.

"But the main purpose and intent of the law is to protect dairy farmers. Cut prices eventually settle on the farmers."

Some wholesale dealers, it was charged, were giving discounts ranging up to 25 per cent to some merchants and in a number of cases the discounts were not uniform.

A case to test the constitutionality of the act is now pending before the state supreme court.

Body Of Veteran Will Be Interred In Local Cemetery

Mr. Hoover was born and raised in New Castle, and was a member of the New Castle Lodge No. 51, Loyal Order of Moose. He was a corporal in the Marine Corps and a member of the American Legion in Pittsburgh.

Surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William M. Hoover, of Youngstown, a son, William M. Hoover, of Canonsburg, Pa., and a sister, Mrs. Leonard Troug, of Youngstown.

About $204,000 in pensions will be collected by 280 prisoners at both branches of the Eastern Penitentiary. And while the men won't be able to get out and spend it, they have plenty of plans.

Recreation Park Plans Advanced

Will Likely Build "National Park" In Beaver County

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 28—Visions of a vast natural recreation park for Western Pennsylvania nearer reality today following the announcement that the resettlement administration in Washington was studying plans to develop 5,000 acres in the Raccoon Creek region, Beaver county.

The "little National Park" is one of five similar projects planned for Pennsylvania's industrial areas. The proposed Raccoon Creek Park was believed assured after the required amount of land had either been purchased or optioned.

Situated in Hanover and Independence townships, Beaver County, the park, according to announced plans will be located where the Lincoln highway crosses Raccoon Creek, approximately 27 miles west of Pittsburgh.

Plans call for the building of 100 cabins, two small lakes, picnic grounds and a tourists's camp. A national game reserve is also planned.

THIS HEN LAYED SOMETHING DIFFERENT

(International News Service)

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa., Feb. 28.—Chickens in this district evidently don't mind working overtime.

An egg was recently displayed in the window of the Punxsutawney Spirit which had two shells.

The egg which had been purchased in a local store, contained an outer shell and between it and the inner shell was the albumen. The inner shell contained both the white and the yolk.

Except for the size it was apparently a normal egg.

SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

(Material Gathered and Edited by Student Reporters)

JUNE GRADUATES LISTED

On Wednesday of this week the office issued the official list of persons who intend to graduate with the June class. This list will undoubtedly be changed from time to time, adding new names and dropping the old, but as it stands now there are 161 boys and 182 girls, being about a total of 343. This is quite a large number compared to the 189 in the January class, but it does not quite come up to the total of the June class of '35, which was 361.

STUDENT TEACHERS HERE

There are two student teachers in the school at the present time. They are Dorothy Richards and Marian Guthrie who are under the supervision of Miss Bartlett and Mr. Black. Both of these students are from Slippery Rock State Teachers' college.

MODEL SHIP EXHIBITED

Miss Helen Westlake has announced that the library recently had on exhibition a model of Farragut's flagship, "The Hartford," made by Russell Warner. It was shown first in a History II class and then taken to the library, where it attracted much attention, especially among the boys of the school. The model proved to be an almost exact copy of the real vessel.

BOOK IS RECOMMENDED

If you're interested in birds and bird life, go to the library and see the beautiful new book entitled, "Birds of America," edited chiefly by T. Gilbert Pearson.

The book contains beautiful colored photos by Louis Agassiz Fuertes, and all kinds of information about American birds.

TOUR PACKING PLANT

In connection with the study of meats that Mrs. Viola Healy's advanced cooking class is taking up this week and next, the girls made a trip through the Armour Packing house Monday. Gilbert Colnot acted as guide, and gave a very interesting talk on meats after the tour was finished.

CLASSES FINISH PROBLEMS

In the clothing classes of the Home Economics department, the girls have already completed their first problem. In the advanced class this problem was the making of tailored blouses. These were very smart in both color scheme and pattern.

The beginning class has finished their first problem of peasant aprons and collars. They are now working on blouses.

MORE GAMES PLAYED

Two more games have been played in the girls' basketball league. The first was between the Junior B and Senior B classes on Thursday, February 27. The Junior B team came out on top with 36 points to 12 for the Senior B team.

The second game, between the Sophomore A's and the Senior B's had a surprising result in that the Sophomore A team won their first game of the season by beating the Senior B team 18 to 11.

TELLS OF CONFERENCE

Monday evening Charlotte Whiteman opened the Girl Reserve meeting by devotionals. After a short talk by President Peggy England, Miriam Clinefelter told about the trip to Washington, Pa., where she attended the Girl Reserve Conference. President England then introduced Mrs. A. B. Street who gave a very interesting talk on "Charm".

After the business meeting, the Girl Reserve basketball team played the team from the Elm Street Girl Reserves. The Senior High team won sixty-two to nothing.

WILL SEEK CLASS SONG

It is time the Senior A class starts to think about their class song. Miss Elizabeth Parker has announced that there will be a contest to choose such a song. The words of this song should be original and at least two verses and one chorus is required. The music can be taken from any popular song. More information will be given later.

PEP CHAPEL ENTHUSES

"Where did the team get the pep displayed in their game with Beaver Falls Tuesday evening?" That is the question that is being asked about the school this week. The "Pep Chapel" Tuesday morning is the answer.

Pep, vim, and vigor were the ear marks of that particular assembly. The cheers that followed Richard Gregor's introduction of each player were sufficient proof that there is no danger of the roof of the high school building being blown off by some spring shower. Each player gave his opinion regarding the outcome of the game and asked the student body for their support. Time has proven that the majority of the players were very good prophets.

The speakers of the morning gave two different views on the effect student support has on the players. Emil Grommes, our flashing center, gave the team's view on the subject. Coach Phil Bridenbaugh gave his view and also explained to the students what the schedule of the team would be in case the team won that particular game.

As Captain Harry Toscano and Johnnie Cabas were ineligible for play Tuesday evening, they were not on the platform with the rest of the team. That musical sensation "The Music Goes Round-n-Round", dedicated to these two boys, was played by the high school band. The noise made by the students singing this piece would have made "Red" Hodgson blush.

SOPHOMORES ASSEMBLE

Exceptional talent and ability was displayed in an unusually well arranged program which was the feature of the first meeting of the Sophomore A class when they gathered in the auditorium on Wednesday morning of this week.

The program opened with Norabelle Wolford, president, presiding. She undertook, as this was the first meeting, to introduce the officers of the class. Those receiving introductions were: Vice President, Earnest McCandless; secretary, Henry Golis; treasurer, Jane Shaffer, and the two student council members, Francis Gregor and Vera Paton. Following a short business session a program of great interest was presented.

"My Pretty Quadroon" was very ably presented in the form of a solo with guitar accompaniment. This was rendered by the treasurer of the class, Miss Jane Shaffer. An amusing monologue, "Showing the Garden" was given by Frances Cope.

The members were then entertained with a tap dance by Helen Humme with Carrie Gibbons accompanying on the piano with the selection, "Sing Before Breakfast."

Another solo, "Mighty Like A Rose" was rendered by Margaret Brenner also being accompanied by Miss Gibbons. Following this solo, a delightful and unique mammy dance with Vera Paton, Lucy Casacchia, and Marjorie Collingwood adorned in fanciful garments taking part was rendered in tune to the selection, "Diana."

To close the program the class president, Norabelle Wolford and Lois Thompson sang the selection, "Lights Out."

NEWS' COLUMNIST SPEAKS

Friday morning an assembly was called for all upper classmen. The speaker, Garry Myers, of Western Reserve university, was brought to the high school under the sponsorship of the Women's club of New Castle. His subject was: "Your Fears and My Fears." This proved to be very interesting to the students.

SENIOR B'S ASSEMBLE

On Thursday morning, Robert Mills, supervisor of the Senior B class called a meeting of all Senior B session rooms in the auditorium. The new officers were introduced and plans for future activities were discussed.

NE-CA-HI PERSONALS

Don Rae has been confined to his home this week due to illness.

Sarah Cleland was absent from school during the early part of the week due to injuries sustained in a fall while ice skating last Sunday.

Melbourne Turner has returned to school following an illness of several days.

Mary Wasilisin is able to be back in school after an illness of several days.

GERMAN CLUB ELECTS

The German club met Wednesday in the cafeteria. Election of officers took place. The following were elected: president, Stanley Stetson; vice-president, Jack Locke; secretary, Rose Wirl; and treasurer, Andy Markel. Later German songs were sung, accompanied by Arvo Aho playing the violin. Dan Remley then reviewed the article on the Olympic games as presented in the German newspaper, "Das Deutsche Echo."

Miss Mary G. Riffer is supervisor of the club.

TURN ATTENTION TO TRAINING HAWKS

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 28.—Hawks at the Philadelphia zoo are trained for falconry to enable devotees of the sport to learn its intricacies.

Several of the zoo's specimens are being turned into hunters by Dr. Robert M. Stabler, professor of zoology of the University of Pennsylvania.

"If there is sufficient interest," Dr. Stabler explained, "we intend to form a falconry club at the zoo. Persons interested will be able to come to the zoo and learn how to handle the birds."

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Townsend Probe Aims At Abuses

Investigation Has Nothing To Do With Merits Of Plan But Quizzes Promoters

SELF-SEEKERS SURROUND DOCTOR

Central Press
Washington Bureau
1900 S street

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—The house of representatives' recently launched investigation of the Townsend old age pension plan, as it generally is described, is not, in reality, intended to be an investigation of the plan's merits.

Indeed, Chairman C. Jasper Bell of the committee, who started the inquiry, says it will not be exclusively a Townsend probe, but that it will delve into the activities of all groups of old age pension promoters. However, inasmuch as none but the Townsendites have organizations of any consequence, it is not inaccurate to refer to the quiz as a "Townsend investigation".

But it is a fact that Chairman Bell and other anti-Townsend members of the committee do not propose to concern themselves with the question of the practicability of old age pensioning, either on a $200-a-month or any other basis. What the "probers" are undertaking to learn is how much money the leaders of the old age pension crusade are making out of it.

BOTH PARTIES EAGER

The political character of the committee's personnel testifies to the mutuality of the Democrats' and Republicans' desire to put the skids under Townsendism.

Ordinarily, with so large a Democratic congressional majority, the Democratic membership of such a committee should have been strongly predominant.

In the present instance Speaker Joseph W. Byrns gave a 50-50 break to Congressman Bertrand H. Snell, Republican generalissimo in the house of representatives, in the selection of committeemen.

Byrns named:

Bell, chairman, and Congrsssmen Scott W. Lucas, Joseph A. Gavagan and John H. Nolan, Democrats.

Snell's selections were:

Congressmen John B. Hollister, J. William Ditter, Clare B. Hoffman and Samuel L. Collins, Republicans.

The Townsendites were given a look-in.

Tolan and Collins avowedly are of that philosophy.

RACKET, THEIR ARGUMENT

The point is that the Democrats were not a bit afraid to trust the Republicans to help them to fight the Townsend doctrine.

The Townsendites are cutting in, apparently, about as much on one party as upon the other. Each is worried by the movement as much as the other. They can co-operate loyally to scotch it, if possible.

Both know that they can't argue it down. Their only recourse is to make it appear that it's a "racket", as Congressman Bell calls it.

Of course Congressmen Tolan and Collins will do their utmost to prevent such an impression from being given, but they probably will have difficulty in doing so, with their chairman and five others of their fellow-members against them.

THE DOCTOR SURROUNDED

I never have heard Dr. Francis E. Townsend accused of beng anything but an honest fanatic.

I've met him.

I've heard him say, in the presence of many witnesses, that his scheme is simultaneously, inflationary and deflationary.

His critics' complaint of him is that he has "surrounded himself" by a crowd of self-seekers. Surrounded himself? I wouldn't say that he had done so. To me it seems that they have done the surrounding.

The doctor unquestionably is an innocent.

His plan's investigators think they may prove that some of his collaborators may prove to be more sophisticated.

National Tastes For Butter Vary

HARRISBURG, Feb. 28—National tastes for butter differ as widely as customs in dress, according to James L. States, analyst for the Bureau of Markets, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture.

The American consumer prefers a moderately strong butter, either salted or unsalted. European countries use a very milky and mild flavored butter. Butter found in tropical countries is strong—almost rancid.

Lawrence County Residents Enjoy Vacation In South

Lawrence county, apparently is well represented in Florida this winter.

Recently a number of residents of the county met, entirely by chance, at the apartment house of W. C. Hayes in Bartow. Mr. Hayes formerly resided near Mt. Jackson but has been in Florida for the past fifteen years.

A party consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Fullerton, Mr. and Mrs. Wylie Brewster and daughter Jean, Mr. and Mrs. James Hogue and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hayes decided to take a side trip to Anna Maria key, a small island off the Gulf coast, near Bradenton.

The fish frys on the beach were greatly enjoyed, as was a visit to the winter quarters and art museum of the Ringling Brothers Circus Co. at Sarasota.

Bathing in the warm water of the gulf (on Feb. 18) was indulged in by some while others preferred fishing. Another favorite pastime was the gathering of donax, a small mollusk, surpassing oysters as a table delicacy. These are carried inshore by the tide and can be found only in the water as they bury themselves in the sand with amazing speed when the waves recede.

Voting the trip a huge success the party finally separated, some going to St. Petersburg by ferry across Tampa bay and the remainder returning to Bartow, after arranging another trip at a later date for a deep sea fishing expedition.

Professional Test Dates Set

Barbers, Realtors And Beauty Parlor Operators To Take Examinations

HARRISBURG, Feb. 28.—Dr. Clarence E. Ackley, director of the bureau of law and licensing in the Department of Public Instruction, has completed the arrangements for conducting a number of professional examinations in Pennsylvania for barbers, real estate brokers and beauty culturists.

The examinations for barbers have been set for March 3. It is expected that more than 100 candidates will participate in these tests which will be given in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Harrisburg, Erie and Scranton.

April 11 is the date for the examinations for real estate brokers. These tests will be conducted in Wilkes-Barre, Erie, Harrisburg, Pittsburgh and Philadelphia. According to advanced applications, 700 persons are expected to participate in the real estate examination.

Dr. Ackley's office has advertised April 21 as the date for the beauty culture professional examination, which will be given in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Harrisburg, Erie and Wilkes-Barre. The practice of beauty culture comprises four distinct professions, each of which will have a separate examination. Approximately 800 persons are expected to undergo these tests.

Legion Has Trouble In Raising Funds

Convention Financing Is Proving A Tough Problem At Johnstown

(International News Service)

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Feb. 28—Unexpected difficulties in its convention financing plan may make it necessary for the Johnstown Post of the American Legion to abandon its plan to entertain the state department of the American Legion in this city in August, it was learned from reliable authority recently.

While merchants of the city, who would garner approximately half a million dollars in business as a result of the convention, have made a strong demand to hold the meeting here it has not been revealed whether such a drastic action as withdrawing as the convention city will be taken by Johnstown.

Scanning records of previous conventions which reveal that at least $20,000 is necessary to stage the convention and that frequently costs range up to $25,000 and $30,000, the Legionnaires admitted they were "up against it." Preparations for the event were at a temporary standstill.

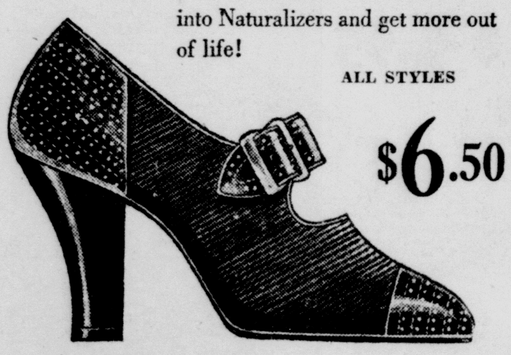

The Australian bottle tree furnishes food and drink for the natives. The bottle- shaped trunk holds water and contains a mucilaginous substance used as a food by the aborigines.

PREVENT DANGERS OF CONSTIPATION*

"Bulk" in ALL-BRAN Is Gentle in Action

Common constipation is largely due to insufficient "bulk" in meals. You fail to get your internal exercise. Millions of people have found that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies soft "bulk" with satisfactory results.

Tests in nutrition laboratories demonstrate that the "bulk" in ALL-BRAN can be used with the utmost confidence. Naturally, those few individuals with diseased or highly sensitive intestines should not take "bulk" in any form—either in leafy vegetables or in bran.

Unlike cathartics, ALL-BRAN is natural in its action—nor does this food lose its effectiveness with continued use. Within the body, it absorbs moisture and cleanses the intestines, promoting normal and healthful elimination.

Two tablespoonfuls of this delicious cereal, served with milk or cream, are usually sufficient. Enjoy it also in cooked dishes.

Help your family keep well. Serve ALL-BRAN regularly for regularity. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Veteran Patients To Be Sent Home

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Feb. 28—Some veteran patients in the state's three tuberculosis sanatoriums will be sent home to make room for other adults and children now unable to be accommodated, Dr. Edith MacBride-Dexter, State secretary of health, announced here.

In several instances, she told a meeting of the Philadelphia college of physicians, patients have been in the institutions 18 years. "Since they are advanced cases and have not been cured," she said, "they are no longer a health problem, but, if they have no homes to go to, they are a welfare problem."

Indian Memorial To Be Erected

(International News Service)

SPANGLER, Pa., Feb. 28—A memorial to Indians who wandered over the old Kittanning trail, long before white men came to drive them from their happy hunting grounds, will be erected, it was revealed recently by Attorney P. J. Little, of Ebensburg, president of the Cambria county historical society.

The historical society in conjunction with the Cambria county Kiwanis club will erect a marker in East Carroll township and hold a celebration in memory of the "Red Men." It will be erected, Little said, on the farm of Henry Gooderham which has never been touched by wheels of modern day vehicles.

(International News Service)

AKRON, O., Feb. 28.—Undersecretary of Labor Edward F. McGrady, ace strike conciliator, remained here today after submitting to the management of Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., and to representatives of union strikers a plan which he is confident will settle the Goodyear strike.

The strike, which has thrown some 14,000 men and women out of work, entered its 11th day today with several hundred pickets still stationed at the company's gates, apparently obeying the common pleas court injunction which prohibits more than 10 pickets at each of the factory's 44 main entrances.

CUBAN GIRL GIVES HER IDEAS ON "RHUMBA"

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 28.—American motion picture interpretation of the rhumba not only are highly inaccurate, but shocking.

That's what pretty Josefina Gonzalse, who came out from Cuba to take a business college course here, thinks of American methods of doing her country's native dance.

"It makes me very, very sad to see Americans try to dance the rhumba," Miss Gonzales confided. "They have no appreciation of the rhythm and poetry of this dance," And as for the screen version—

"Little short of shocking," she added. "It in no way resembles the real rhumba."

Her mother was out of the house at this time.

While upstairs Mrs. Palkovich heard a shuffling sound down stairs and running down to the kitchen she found her mother lying face downward on the pantry floor. Her father was standing over her with a hatchet handle in his hand. The blade covered with blood was later found under a table. Mrs. Zuk had cuts on her head and a fracture of the skull from which she died.

There is still some question about the room in Jamestown since that location was not named in Judge McLaughery's mandamus to the poor directors. It is not anticipated that there will be any difficulty about having this necessary location included in the county-wide project which is sponsored by the poor directors of the county.

Geneva-Titans Meet Saturday

Fifty-Sixth Game Between Two Teams To Take Place At New Wilmington

GAME WILL BE CLOSE BATTLE

NEW WILMINGTON, Feb. 28.—Westminster's first and oldest rival, Geneva, will meet the Titan cagers for their 56th game in 38 years of competition between the two schools, Saturday night on the New Wilmington floor.

The Titans and Covenanters first met in 1898, Westminster's first inter-collegiate basketball encounter, with a 21-4 victory for the Titans as a result. Of the long-time series, the Covenanters have a slight edge with 30 games to their credit and 25 for Westminster.

Since 1927, however, when John D. Lawther became Westminster coach, the Titans have captured 12 out of 19 contests from the Beaver Falls quintets.

Westminster's 25 victories have been more decisive than Geneva's 30, for out of the 55 game total of 2918, the Titans have scored 1529 to the Covenanters' 1429. The average score per game for the entire series is very close, Westminster 26.8 and Geneva 26.1. The Titans' high score in a single game was 58 in 1906 and in 1934; Geneva's high was 55 in 1916.

The Covenanters will be out for vengence because of an early season victory for the Titans by a 35-16 score, in which Bennett alone accounted for 19 points, more than the total Geneva score.

Because of a scoring slump for Willits and Backus in the Titan lineup, several shifts may be made for the Saturday game. It is possible that Bennett or Grubb may take the tip-off position, with Demo going in as the second forward. Demo played excellently earlier in the season, when he replaced Backus on the starting five on the Titans' first eastern invasion.

One of the most impressive changes in the Titan squad within the past two weeks has been the scoring spree of John Krivosh, sophomore guard from Sharon. In the last six games the husky Titan has shot 52 points for an average of just under nine points a game. Most of these are long-distance shots, Krivosh's specialty.

The Westminster-Geneva game is called for 8:15 Saturday night.

JAPAN'S ARMY REBELS REMAIN IN STRONGHOLD

not confirmed officially, but the strict censorship and other aspects of the crisis lent credence to the reports in informed Shanghai circles.

Shanghai heard also that marines and naval landing parties were filtering through Tokyo streets.

Chinese reports in Shanghai said the revolt had spread to Osaka, Japan's second largest city, to which the second fleet was rushed immediately after the revolt broke out.

London heard that loyal army leaders had threatened to open fire on the rebels, using force to make them come to terms.

Shanghai and London circles feared the entire far eastern picture might be changed if the bold attempt to establish a military dictatorship is successful. Japan's foreign policy would be drastically altered to conform with the Aggressive Expansionist ideals of the rebels, it was believed.)

Rebels Hold Positions

Lieut. Gen. Kohei Kashii, commander of the Tokyo garrison and ruler of the capital under martial law, admitted in a radio broadcast at 9 p. m. (7:00 a. m., E. S. T.) that the rebels still were holding their positions in the Nagatacho district.

Nagatacho (cho means street) runs from a point near the new uncompleted Diet building past the residence of the slain premier, Keisukeokada, and the American embassy toward the third regiment barracks.

Among the strategically-located buildings in the area still held by the rebels are in the metropolitan police headquarters, the premier's residence, and the Diet building, which has been under construction for several years and was to be occupied by legislators this fall.

A score of sentries were placed around the American embassy, which lies midway between rebel strongholds and the third regiment barracks, to which the rebels fails to return today despite expiration of two time limits—8:00 a. m. and noon. By contrast, only the usual lone sentry was on duty at the British embassy, outside the rebel area.

All foreigners were warned off the streets.

The rebels were entrenched in the shadow of the imperial palace, which was considered virtually inviolate in view of the unique reverence in which the Japanese hold their ruler.

By JAMES R. YOUNG
International News Service Staff Correspondent

TOKYO, Feb. 28.—Refusing to surrender their embattled positions in government buildings, rebel troops, still joyously celebrating the assassination of five anti-militaristic statesmen, were holding out for better terms of capitulation today six hours after the government's noon deadline.

Foreign diplomatic quarters heard that another "compromise" had been offered the mutineers to induce them to return to their barracks.

This is the second compromise offered to the insurgents, and it is believed to involve promises that the military will have more power in government affairs.

Extreme Tension

Tokyo is in a state of extreme tension, while three important meetings of various branches of the government are being held to determine action for or against the assassins.

The foreign office advised the American and other embassies and legations to warn foreigners to stay off the streets. The entire Mexican legation staff left the city. All foreign guests left the Sanno hotel, including Mrs. Sears of San Francisco, wife of a newspaper photographer, whose film was seized, and Lieut. and Mrs. Richardson of the American embassy staff.

A rigid censorship was reimposed, and it is impossible to cable, radio, or telephone out any news revealing how serious the situation actually is.

Summons Naval Officers

Most significant of today's parleys was one called by Admiral Mineo, Osumi, navy minister and a possibility for the premiership, who summoned high naval officers to consider the navy's standpoint in the rebellion.

Crews of the first fleet were ordered to "stand by for action," and it was a question whether the guns of the warships that bristled in Tokyo harbor would be turned on the rebels or would roar in the militaristic cause.

Guards around the navy ministry were reinforced.

Apparently the government is in a quandary about how to act, fearing that the whole army and navy may go over to the rebel side.

As time went on after the 12:00 o'clock deadline, eight princes—Chichibu, Takamatsu, Fushimi, Kuni, Nashimoto, Asaka, Highshikuni, and Takeda were closeted with the emperor in the palace.

Another conference was held by acting Premier Fumio Goto and the members of his "rump cabinet" at the palace, following a session with military leaders that lasted until 8 o'clock this morning. No permanent cabinet will be formed until after the situation settles down.

Split In Japanese Army

Shanghai, Feb. 28.—A rebellious split in the Japanese army was threatened today as the government delivered an ultimatum to the Tokyo insurgent-assassins to surrender tonight or face force.

In a tremendously explosive situation, news leaked through a reimposed Japanese censorship that marines have been landed in Tokyo to assist in shelling the rebels out of the government buildings and hotels in Tokyo they have occupied since Wednesday.

Naval leaders, incensed over the adamant stand of the army rebels, prepared for drastic action, while it was feared that part of the army, openly sympathetic with the insurgent "patriots" would fight with them against the sailors.

Guards around the naval ministry were greatly strengthened, Admiral Osumi, navy minister, conferred with other navy leaders on action to be taken, and guns of several warships in Tokyo harbor were trained on the city.

Unconfirmed reports said fighting has already broken out in Tokyo.

Fascists have delivered a demand to Japanese government leaders, giving them three choices for the premiership — Admiral Yamamoto, General Mazaki, or Prince Kanoe.

Otherwise, they warned, General Araki, hero of Japan's conquest of Manchuria, will enforce a military dictatorship.

WILLING WORKERS MEET

The Willing Workers class of the First Congregational church were pleasingly received in the home of Mrs. Rachael Long, South Mercer street Thursday evening, for their regular meeting. Business items were given consideration, and afterwards, the time was spent in an informal social manner.

Games of various kinds, kept the hours enlivened with prizes being awarded to Mrs. Daniel Hughes, Mrs. Griff Thomas, Mrs. Joe Richards and Mrs. Daniel Richards. In serving refreshments, the hostess was assisted by Mrs. William Jones of Weirton, West Va., a special guest of the occasion.

Their next meeting will be held Thursday, March 26, at the home of Mrs. Albert Jones, Cunningham avenue.

No Tall Posts On Proposed Wall

Director of Parks Joseph D. Alexander today announced that in the construction of the ornamental wall, within the curb of the public square the posts which will be erected will not be eight feet high. Instead there may be no posts. If there are posts they will be placed eight feet apart. The story in yesterday's News said they would be eight feet high. This was a misunderstanding. It is probable that Alexander will confer with a landscape artist before the work is started so nothing except that which will enhance the beauty of the park will be done.

OLDEST WOMEN'S ORCHESTRA

The oldest women's orchestra in the United States is the Los Angeles Women's Symphony orchestra which was organized in November 1893—making it nearly 43 years old. At first it had 25 members, but they now number 70, and the orchestra gives from three to eight concerts each year since its organization. D. C. Cianfoni is the present conductor.

State Witnesses To Be Defended

Conspiracy Charges Might Be Considered Against Governor And Bruno's Defense

COL. LINDBERGH TO UPHOLD WITNESS

By KENNETH T. DOWNS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

(Copyright, 1936, By International News Service)

TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 28.—While remaining silent in the face of Gov. Hoffman's repeated attacks on its witnesses at the Hauptmann trial, the Attorney General's office has prepared to take drastic steps if perjury complaints are lodged against any of these witnesses, International News Service learned today.

One of these steps, a member of Attorney General David T. Wilentz's staff disclosed, might be to demand a grand jury investigation to determine whether Governor Hoffman, the Hauptmann defense lawyers, and Mrs. Anna Hauptmann conspired against the questioned witnesses.

"If they entertain any charges against our witnesses and call for a grand jury investigation, Prosecutor Hauck may turn around and ask the Hunterdon county grand jury to determine whether any conspiracy has been entered into by the governor, Mrs. Hauptmann and the defense attornies," the aide declared.

Too Many Threats

"There have been too many threats on the part of Hauptmann's backer. While we have remained silent we'll show them we have an idea or two ourselves if they continue to think up more schemes without worrying about whom these schemes might unjustly injure."

Meantime, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, himself, will be called upon to defend Millard Whited, one of the principal state witnesses under the governor's attack, if moves are made to indict him, attorney General David T. Wilentz revealed.

Whited, the Sourland mountains logger, was the witness who testified he saw Bruno Richard Hauptmann skulking about the Lindbergh premises several days prior to the kidnaping and murder on March 1, 1932.

The governor has publicly attacked Whited's credibility, declaring that the backwoodsman told police after the crime that he never saw any strangers in the vicinity at that time. Hints of reward money prompted Whited to testify against Hauptmann later, the governor intimated. The defense is prepared to have Mrs. Hauptmann sign a perjury complaint against the witness.

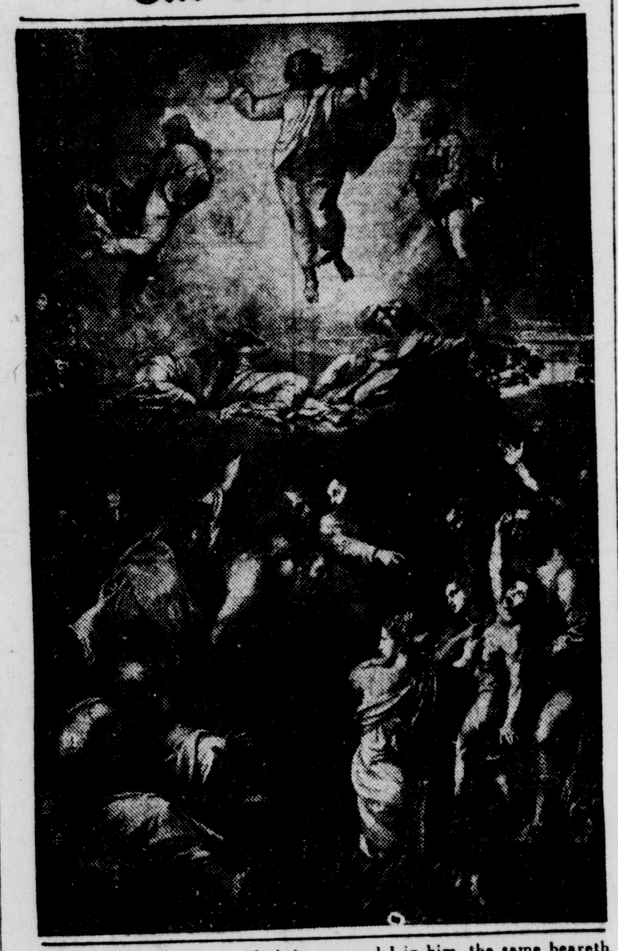

If this is done, Col. Lindbergh will come to Whited's assistance, the Attorney general declared. The aviator informed authorities before the Hauptmann trial that Whited, the very day after the kidnaping, not only told of seeing a stranger near the Lindbergh home a few days before, but gave a description which later was found to fit Hauptmann.

Persian women who wish to cast off their veils were encouraged recently when the queen and royal princess accompanied the shah to the inauguration of a new military academy minus their veils.

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

John 15:5—"He that abideth in me, and I in him, the same beareth much fruit."

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for March 1 is Luke 9:1-62, especially 28-43, the Golden Text being John 15:5, "He that abideth in me, and I in him, the same beareth much fruit.")

Our Lord once said to his disciples "My Father worketh even until now, and I work." In this unceasing work he expects us to share with him. There is no excuse for spiritual unemployment in Christian service.

The Call To Service

Our Lord not only calls us to serve, but he instructs and adequately empowers us for that service: "And he called the twelve together, and gave them power and authority over all devils and to cure diseases. And he sent them forth to preach the kingdom of God, and to heal the sick. . . . And the apostles, when they were returned, declared unto him what things they had done." With what sense of achievement they returned to report to him the results of their service? They were in need of rest, and he retired with them into a desert place for rent, only to be interrupted by the multitudes seeking his ministry. To serve these Jesus gladly sacrificed rest and comfort to teach and even feed the thousands who needed the service that only he and his disciples could give.

Creed And Service

But we must know the Christ we serve before we can tell others of him. So Jesus examines his servants upon this important point, and asks, "Who say ye that I am? And Peter, answering said, The Christ of God." To this clearly confessed creed Jesus added the new revelation of his cross as essential not only for him but for every disciple who would follow him in service: "If any man would come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me." The cross is forever to be the pattern and the dynamic for service.

The Cross In Glory

The whole idea of the cross was offensive to our Lord's disciples. They saw no glory in it for them nor for their Master. So a week later he took Peter, James and John with him into a high mountain, where, "as he was praying, the fashion of his countenance was altered, and his raiment became white and dazzling. And behold, there talked with him two men, which were Moses and Elijah; who appeared in glory, and spake of his decease which he was about to accomplish at Jerusalem." Here were the greatest men of ages gone by speaking with the radiantly glorified Christ of that cross which has so shortly before seemed so offensive to the disciples. It was a sunburst of deity shining through Christ's humanity pointing him and them to Calvary and the glorious service Christ was there to accomplish in leading the race in a spiritual "exodus" from sin and death.

The Vision And Service

Peter suggested that they remain on the mount enjoying its glory. But visions are not given of God for man's entertainment but to equip for further service. At the foot of that mount of vision was a father with an afflicted son for whose relief the other apostles without Christ were impotent. This was the call of service from the mount of divine vision to the valley of human need, and Christ responded. In this spirit "he steadfastly set his face to go to Jerusalem", challenging men to follow with undivided and undeviating determination, saying, "No man, having put his hand to the plough, and looking back, is fit for the kingdom of God."

VANITY APPEAL

HARRISBURG, Feb. 28.—Secretary of Welfare Dr. J. Evans Scheehle, is carrying out a program of variety wardrobe insofar as budget limitations permit to aid in the betterment of dispositions of patients in Pennsylvania's twelve State-owned mental hospitals. Frequent changes of clothing, always of a different pattern and material, and if possible changes in color, not only aid in the physical condition of the patient, but they also build-up morale and overcome depressed attitudes.

Women's Projects For Beaver Co.

Sewing Rooms To Be Operated At Koppel And Darlington Soon

Approval of new women's projects for Beaver county has been made in Washington, according to J. Vale Downie, district director, and all that is needed now is for the allocation of funds from Harrisburg.

The following statement is made concerning the new projects by Mr. Downie.

The new project provides for the setting up of an additional room for 40 seamstresses in Ambridge and an additional room for the same number of women workers in New Brighton. In each case local school boards have agreed to furnish additional space for the purposes of the project.

New sewing rooms are to be operated in Beaver Falls, Koppel and Darlington. In Beaver Falls four rooms in the Fifth street school have been placed at the disposal of WPA women's work department and in these rooms 122 first priority women will be put to work making useful garments. The two rooms, one in Koppel and one in Darlington, will accommodate the apparent number of employable women, which totals 30.

Stole Six Ton Of Coal, Blames Booze

ERIE, Pa., Feb. 28.—John Lahman, 29, pleaded guilty before Judge Miles B. Kitts to a charge of stealing six tons of coal from a railroad car, and told the judge he was intoxicated.

Judge Kitts replied: "Shoveling one ton would have made an ordinary person sober. You should be of great help in the fire room of the Western Penitentiary where I'm sending you from one to two years.

GETTING BACK TO OLD TIME DANCES

(International News Service)

BRYN MAWR, Pa., Feb. 28.—"Swing your partners!"

That familiar phrase rings through nearby Bryn Mawr College these Saturday nights. In an effort to brighten up the undergraduates week-ends, a series of square dances was inaugurated this winter.

Now, college officials pointed out, instead of seeking outside diversion or getting a case of week-end blues, the student body can stay right on the campus for a high old time.

Philadelphia Is Built On Early Trail Of Trappers

The Beaver Is Now Credited With Establishing Of City

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 28.—The Beaver now is credited with leading to the establishment of this city—third largest in the country.

Albert Cook Myers, secretary of the Pennsylvania Historical commission, has concluded that beavers and the possibilities of rich trade in their furs led William Penn to choose this particular spot as the location of Philadelphia.

The fact that an important Indian trail from the west terminated here probably influenced Penn, Myers declared. More than 40,000 of the valuable pelts were carried over the route each year in colonial times.

Penn paid his taxes to the king in such furs which brought the equivalent of $100 each in today's currency, and for a time proved the lifeblood of the colonies.

Virtually forgotten, the trail was rediscovered when farmers along its route plowed up the remains of ancient campfires.

LETTERS TO THE NEWS

Letters Intended For This Column Must Be Signed With Name And Address Of Writer.

New Castle, Pa.
Feb. 26, 1936.

Editor News:
Dear Sir—

I read an article in The News a couple of nights ago where one of our citizens thought it would be a swell idea to make an air port out of Cunningham woods, for such it is. The party didn't say whether they should make an airport to carry passengers from here to there of wherever they wish to go. You know this city took over Cascade Park to try and make a go of it and they just made a stagger at it. They found themselves in the red. The same things would happen if they tried running an airport.

Well, there sure was a lot of money spent for nothing up in the so called Cunningham Park. No cows were allowed in there, but they were there just the same all through the summer. Well, I might as well make my rounds as I've got started. I took a walk down to Moravia street bridge to see the ice gorge. It was pretty bad, but the city alone is to blame for that. They wouldn't dredge Big Run when the South Side Board of Trade mentioned it. We have some smart fellows on the board of trade down here. Now, the city council is looking for projects let them get at Big Run this summer.

Gettysburg To Be Commemorated

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Feb. 28.—In commemoration of the battle of Gettysburg, the commission arranging for the observance of the seventy-fifth anniversary to be held in 1938 will request congress to issue 100,000 50-cent pieces and authorize a special stamp issue, it was learned here recently.

Commemorating both the anniversary and the first official reunion of the Grand Army of the Republic and the United Confederate Veterans, the commission said it planned to extend the observance from June 26 to July 5.

t. David's Day To Be Observed

sh-Americans To Gather First Congregational Church Saturday Night

TTSBURGH MAN TO MAKE ADDRESS

St. David's Day, the natal day of the patron saint of Wales, will be celebrated by the Welsh-Americans of New Castle on Saturday night, February 29, when a Welsh tea and program will be held in the First Congregational church on East Reynolds street.

The tea party and the program are being sponsored by the True Ivorites of America and at 5 o'clock tea will be served in the old Welsh fashion. Entertainment will be provided until 7:30 when the meeting will be held in the auditorium of the church.

For the speaker of the evening Attorney Raymond D. Evans of Pittsburgh, has been secured. Mr. Evans is a former assistant United States district attorney. He is a speaker of force and is known throughout Western Pennsylvania.

Congregational singing will be featured, with David Lewis directing. Harry Evans, well known basso-profundo will be heard in several solo numbers. The evening program includes many musical features and promises to be a successful St. David's party.

March 1 is St. David's Day but because this date falls on Sunday, the True Ivorites are sponsoring the tea party and program on the night before.

Grove City Clamps Lid On "Numbers"

No "Sellers" Found In College Town As Authorities Act

(Special To The News)

GROVE CITY, Feb. 28.—Patrons of the numbers racket here—and they are said to be surprisingly numerous—went without their thrill today. They couldn't buy a number at any price, and the daily query, "What's the bug?" lost all significance.

Numbers writers took to cover after Police Chief James Reed issued a warning that they could get out of business or take the consequences. They preferred to shut up shop—at least temporarily—and financial pages of the afternoon newspapers lost much of their appeal.

The retreat of the writers, of whose existence many citizens were completely ignorant, may be permanent due to the raids in nearby towns and the announcement of District Attorney E. C. Moon that he would investigate the racket in every town of the county. Coupled with resolutions adopted by the pastors of three leading Grove City churches, against gambling and lotteries of every description, the mandate of Chief Reed has clamped the lid down tight on the "bug."

LONDON, Feb. 28.—Italy will not be represented at Geneva Monday when the League of Nations committee of 18 meets to discuss the league sanctions against Italy and possibilities of applying an oil embargo against her, an Exchange telegraph dispatch from Rome said today.

There have been predictions the league committee will shelve oil embargo proposals, on grounds the attitude of the United States would make oil sanctions impracticable.

Martin Will Quit Bidding

Restricting Of Military Airplanes Profits May Stop Martin

(International News Service)

BALTIMORE, Feb. 28—Glenn L. Martin, builder of the Martin bombers and the China, Philippine and Hawaiian clippers stated today he will bid on no more government contracts if congress passes the proposed law to restrict profits on military airplanes to 10 percent.

In defending his stand, Martin said if he made bids under the law now proposed he would lose money. He explained the 10 percent profit allowed does not take into consideration the money the builders spend on research, experiments, cost of constructing models, interest on loans and other items he thinks other airplane builders will take similar stand.

DIG UP LARGE URN 2,000 YEARS OLD

(International News Service)

LONDON—The top of a large urn, believed to be at least 2,000 years old, has been dug up at Ash, near Canterbury, by a market gardener when trenching in a greenhouse. When exposed to the air the top fell to pieces.

According to W. Stebbing, archaeologist, the original vessel was a cinerary urn made before Christ. In that there had been two other urns, the largest containing bones and the other water for deceased after life.

Gag Order For Army Officers

All Eighth Area Corps Staff Officers Must Not Comment On Removal

(International News Service)

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 28.—All eighth corps area army staff officers were under orders today to make no comment whatever pertaining to the summary order removing Maj. Gen. Johnson Hagood from command of the area because he had criticized the spending policies of the administration.

Source of the gag order which it became known late yesterday was in effect, was at first withheld, but today it had been revealed as having been given "by command of Major General Hagood." The order, as published today read:

All officers, warrant officers and enlisted men on duty at, or with, headquarters eighth corps area are hereby forbidden to enter into any public discussion or make any public comments with reference to the recent orders making a change in the status of the corps area command." It was said that a warning also had been given the families of officers living at the post not to talk.

The displaced officer continued silent about the order for him to leave his command and report at his home for further orders. He refused to see newspaper men yesterday for the first time and was quoted as having said. "It is to my interest to say nothing whatever about this." He also is wary of newspaper photographers, and has refused to reveal his plans for departure.

Council To View Two Projects Not To Be Completed

City Officials Oppose Cessation Of Work On Martin Street And Crawford Run

Council is not pleased with the report received from the WPA by City Engineer Glenn R. Throop that owing to lack of funds for two projects—riprapping of Crawford run and the Martin street storm sewers—the jobs will be closed down and the tools assigned to the Rural avenue project.

Throop said that it would entail considerable expense to transfer the equipment to Rural avenue and then when work was resumed on the other projects to return them to those jobs.

Council took the position it would be best to complete the present jobs, if possible, stating that if a heavy storm occurred considerable damage would be done in the Martin street section.

According to reports the work in Martin street was started in November, the progress has not been fast and further, citizens have complained of the long time being taken for the job and of detours.

Council proposed to view the jobs to be delayed this afternoon.

FASCISTS GET SOAP FROM MILK RESIDUE

(International News Service)

ROME—Soap from milk residue is the last word in Italian inventions produced by Fascist scientists who have rallied to their respective laboratories at the Duce's plea to find substitutes for every raw material which Italy formerly imported.

The new invention will save great quantities of soap fats which can now be released for more important uses.

It is calculated that the new "milk-soap" will cost each person not more than one-tenth of a cent per day for normal use.

From the same substance are being made other products for the cleaning of pavements and metals.

Confesses She Killed Husband

Mrs. Romaine Washinger, 45, Faces Charge Of Murder

WOMAN TRIED TO COMMIT SUICIDE

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Feb. 28.—State police today held a signed statement from Mrs. Romaine Washinger, 45, of near Mt. Pleasant, York county, in which the former school teacher allegedly admits she killed her husband, Simon, 34, and then attempted suicide last Monday night.

The statement, following the detailed account of the shooting given in a previous verbal report, was signed by Mrs. Washinger from her bed in Harrisburg hospital where she is recovering from a self-inflicted bullet wound. Her condition today was unchanged and satisfactory.

York county authorities deferred service of a murder warrant on the wounded mother of triplets, pending her discharge from the hospital, expected in a few days. Friends and country neighbors of the once-happy family prepared to attend funeral services for the slain husband this afternoon at the Mt. Olivet church, about 10 miles west of Chambersburg.

Use Dynamite On Grove City Gorge

(Special To The News)

GROVE CITY, Feb. 28—Dynamite was used in an effort to break an ice dam in Wolf creek here after the stream had overflowed a retaining wall and threatened to flood dining rooms at the Penn Grove hotel. At the crest, Thursday at noon, the waters had crept within ten feet of the hotel, but dropped during the afternoon. At normal level, the creek at this point is five feet below the top of the wall.

The ice gorge was located midway between the Pine and Main street bridges, as the creek flows through the college campus. Dynamite had little effect ,and ice covering the surface of the lower dam was unbroken. Workmen abandoned efforts when it was believed the flood was subsiding.

Fear of a repetition of a flood some five years ago, when the hotel's basement was flooded, kept borough employes constantly at watch.

Missionaries In China Will Not Flee From Posts

Despite Communists Advance American Missionaries To Remain At Feuchow

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)

PEIPING, Feb. 28.—Although advancing communist troops are only 75 miles away, American missionaries at Fenchow, Shanshi province, said today they were "not afraid" and would not flee.

There are 12 American men, women and children, all attached to the American board mission hospital and schools. Fenchow officials have ordered each family to lay in a three months' supply of food. Each family, Chinese and foreign, must supply two sand bags for use in strengthening the city's defenses, while all motor trucks are being commandeered to carry troops to oppose the reds.

The invaders, sweeping in from Shensi province, already hold several cities in western Shanshi, the entire population has fled from one town, the Americans said.

Chinese news reports say the government has won a victory over the communists, whose forces are made up of "impoverished Shanshi peasants forced into military service by the communistic leaders."

FRUIT GROWERS NEED TO WATCH FOR PESTS

Most fruit growers who have been able to get into the orchards for pruning operations undoubtedly have seen the large number of small shiny black aphid eggs on the buds, limbs, and water sprouts of the trees. A similar condition exists in some orchards with respect to the Epropean Red spider and these eggs are very abundant around the buds and on the twigs and smooth bark of young trees.

These conditions indicate that there will be large development of apple aphids and European Red spiders this year. Apple growers who have had trouble in past years should be prepared for an outbreak of apple asphids and hatching of red spider.

The red spider is most abundant in eastern counties while aphid eggs are abundant on trees over the entire state.

NEW ELECTRIC CABLE CUTS WIRING COSTS

Those who are about to have their buildings wired for the first time or who plan additions to their present electric system will be interested in a new wiring material recently approved by the inspecting authorities. It is called non-metallic sheathed cable, which means that there is no metal in the protective coverings.

There are two standard wires, or three where necessary, laid side by side, and a tough cover woven securely over them. This material should be installed for much less than the old metal pipes or armored cable that has been required previously. Exhaustive tests on the National Electric Project over a period of five years showed the non-metallic sheathed cable endured the dampness of a dairy stable better than the other methods of protection.

HENS NEED MUCH FEED IN LAYING MANY EGGS

Hens which are heavy eaters also may be heavy producers.

Records show that a group of farms on which the feed consumed by the birds averaged 83 pounds a year the average production was 166 eggs a hen. On farms where the amount of feed eaten was about 65 pounds a bird the average production was only 109 eggs.

When feed costs are subtracted from egg receipts, the high producing birds returned $1.67 each, while poorer layers paid only 86 cents.

EARLY MARKET LAMBS NEED TO BE WELL FED

A few Lawrence County farmers produce lambs for an early market. Many of these lambs are marketed before the first of June and should be well fed.

Every good shepherd realized the wisdom in keeping these young lambs gaining from the time they are dropped until they go to market. Never permit a young lamb to lose its body fat.

These lambs should be creep-fed where they have access to a good legume hay and a grain mixture of the following 2 parts corn, 2 parts oats, 1 part bran, and 1 part linseed oil meal. It is important that all troughs be kept clean. The refused grain can ge given to the ewes flock. For the first two months the corn may be cracked but after that it should be fed whole.

There is no particular advantage in grinding feed for sheep, unless it is for young lambs or old broken mouthed ewes that are being fattened.

ICE AND SLEET MAY BE FATAL TO ALFALFA CROP

A sheet of ice and frozen sleet which has covered some sections of Pennsylvania for weeks may be fatal to alfalfa stands according to a statement made by J. B. Dickey, crops and soils specialist from State College. Where there was a considerable thickness of snow under the crust, the damage is not so serious.

The trouble seems to be a form of smothering to which alfalfa is very susceptible. Clover and winter grain may also be injured if the ice sheet stays on too long and lies too close to the ground. Practical experience has shown that breaking ice sheets by driving stock or machinery, such as disk harrows or tractors, over the field may save an alfalfa stand if done soon enough.

Fields should be inspected in the spring and if badly damaged arrangements should be made for adequate emergency hay crops, such as soybeans

WATCH BEES CAREFULLY DURING COLD AND SNOW

Due to the continued cold and snow there may be an accumulation of dead bees at the entrances to the hives. This accumulation may be large enough to prevent the live bees from getting to the outside. Beekeepers should clean out the entrance with a hooked wire so that the bees can get out.

The long confinement of the bees has made them restless so that they fly from the hive at temperatures lower than they should should. As a result they fall in the snow and die. This loss of bees can be prevented by scattering straw or hay around in front of the hives for a distance of eight or ten feet. The bees can light on this material and fly again. The flight of the bees may be stopped on a day when they might die in the snow by shoveling snow on the entrances of the hives.

PLAN THE GARDEN EARLY TO INCLUDE HEALTH FOODS

Start planning your vegetable garden now urges Miss Mary Vogle, county home economic representative. Winter evenings are ideal to look over seed catalogues and begin plans for your garden. Remember that a garden is an excellent way to supply ample quantity of fresh vegetables for every member of the family during the growing season and also supply enough vegetables to can and store for use during the winter months.

The choice of vegetables is also important for the adequate nourishment of your family. All gardens should include sufficient greens, tomatoes, and other vegetables such as peas, carrots, corn, and beans, to meet these food requirements. Follow the vegetable rule of two vegetables besides potatoes daily and tomatoes three times a week.

Choice of vegetables should also be considered when you plan the canning and storing for next winter's use. Why not make your canning interesting by using a definite plan? Miss Vogle will be glad to supply you with sheet on "Planning the Canning."

This plan enables each woman to know how much and the definite vegetables to can and store to meet the best nutritional needs of her family, and it is a good guide, too, for planning the garden that is to supply these foods.

Miss Vogle suggests that interest may be added this year by planning to grow a few new vegetables. New vegetables usually are met with enthusiasm and they certainly add variety to the meals.

The nutritional value of vegetables cannot be over-emphasized. They supply our bodies with starch for energy and pep, roughage which keeps the body regular, minerals for bone and teeth development and vitamins which "keep us growing and going."

Library 25 Years Old; Report Relates Growth Of Popular Institution

New Castle's free public library is 25 years old!

But Miss Alice Sterling, librarian, indicated today that there will be little celebrating.

Annual Review Issued

In its annual report just compiled the library has made interesting comparisons with the library of today and that of the past. Miss Sterling shows that the collection of books has grown from 2,000 to 41,336 and that the circulation has jumped from 47,408 books in the first year, to 307,734 books in 1935.

At the industrial show in the Lawrence Auto Sales Company rooms this week the library has an exhibit which is the nearest to an anniversary observance it will come. Seventy-five volumes are on display there.

About half are books given in January by the William McKean Brown Foundation of the Yale University Press. The other books are science, manufacturing, industries and handicraft. All the books will be in circulation after the exhibit and any book may be reserved by a borrower to be taken next week.

Three branches have been opened to carry the library to distant parts of the city and to decrease the congestion at the main library. Two hospital branches have been opened to aid the sick to forget their suffering and to shorten the hours of convalescence. In the ten years the library has occupied its own home the circulation has increased 266 per cent.

During this time the Helen R. Brown memorial collection has grown from six to 150 books. This collection, maintained by Mrs. Julia Brown and Miss Rachel Streng, formerly of New Castle, is a memorial to Mrs. Brown's daughter. A memorial for the library is not a cold monument, but a means of promoting a great, free, humanitarian service. Useful memorial gifts to the library may range from a single book or magazine subscription to a book truck or a library building.

Circulation Growth Healthy

The fact that the circulation for 1935 has gained five per cent over that of 1934 seems to indicate that natural growth rather than the forced increase of the depression years is again taking place. This increase is distributed throughout the main library and all branches. The daily average circulation was 996 books.

The WPA project workers, numbreing five, are doing excellent work in recasing and mending books. The work began November 12.

The poetry group has met monthly for a year and a half, and is composed of those interested in reading, writing and appreciation of poetry.

Students from the University of Pittsburgh and from Slippery Rock Teachers College used the library for professional reading and assignments.

Professional meetings included the spring and fall meetings of the Four-County Library club and the Pennsylvania Library association annual meeting at Wernersville in October. At all of these the library was represented.

Exhibits of books and book talks were given at the Woman's club and the Lawrence County Ministerial Association. During Book Week the Pennsylvania Power Company gave the use of a show window for a book exhibit.

A graph has been included in the annual report which shows the increase in circulation by five-year periods covering the library's first quarter of a century.

Air Markers To Provide Safer Flying In State

WPA Aeronautics Projects Include Designation Of Towns For Flyers

HARRISBURG, Feb. 28.—Safe flying in bad weather in Pennsylvania will be vastly improved when 410 WPA airmarking projects sponsored by the Division of Aeronautics of the Department of Revenue are completed, Secretary of Revenue John B. Kelly said today.

The air markers consist of large signs denoting town names painted on the roofs of strategically located buildings throughout the State. They will make it impossible for a pilot to fly more than fifteen miles without seeting at least one of these signs. By consulting his map he will then be able to locate himself at once. The markers will be helpful to private flyers and airline pilots alike.

Cammay Vinet, Chief of the Division of Aeronautics, plans to have at least three State-owned flying fields equipped with all-weather hard surface runways. These are also to be built as WPA projects.

At the Harrisburg Airport, one of the runways will be aligned with the radio beacon so that blind landings can be made by radio alone. Colored lights set flush in the runways will also contribute to safe landings in bad weather. This field is to be developed as a model for others.

Positions Secured For More Graduates

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 28.—During the academic year of 1935-1936 there was a decided increase in the number of opportunities for employment presented to graduates through placement service of the University of Pennsylvania, according to a report by Dr. Clarence E. Clewell, director of the service.

Dr. Clewell disclosed that during the first seven months of the period, which began last July, a total of 641 positions for graduates were brought to the attention of the alumni and educational divisions of the placement service, as compared with 426 during the same period of 1934-35.

Farmers Organize To Stop Erosion

HARRISBURG, Feb. 28.—Farmers and other large land owners throughout the State are organizing soil conservation associations for the purpose of co-operating with the Federal and State Departments of Agriculture for soil conservation and for the purpose of availing themselves of the benefits of the Federal and State programs.

Usually landowners in a fertile valley band themselves together for the purpose of checking erosion throughout all or part of the valley. They form an association and petition the aid of the Soil Conservation Service.

Experts from the United States Department of Agriculture, the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, Forests and Waters and the Game Commission are available for the instruction of the members of these accociations at their organization and subsequent meetings.

New Castle And Latrobe Prepare For Tourney Game

New Castle High "Red Hurricane" Faces Tough Opponent In Pitt Stadium

New Castle high school "Red Hurricane" basketball team is busily engaged at the present time in preparing for the invasion of the Pitt Stadium Monday night to meet the fast Latrobe high Wildcats. This will be a W. P. I. A. L. Class A elimination game.

Coach Phil Bridenbaugh took off his coat and rolled up his sleeves at Washington high Thursday afternoon and got down to the serious business of training for the important tussle that awaits the Section Three champions.

The New Castle squad with the exception of Grommes is in fine shape for the tourney battle. Grommes is still bothered with a pair of bad ankles. "Bus" Strasbaugh is filling the center post admirably in the absence of Grommes.

Latrobe Tough Team

Latrobe high goes to the Pitt Stadium with the record of only two defeats this year, one to Kiski and one to the California State Teachers' College freshman team. There are five veterans on the Latrobe team, paced by the great Clifford Lenz, the rangy center, and by the famous Moersch brothers, along with Chester Lee, another fine veteran. Latrobe is coached by Ray Wild, former Geneva star.

Tickets for the game are on sale at the Sporting Goods Store and Senior high for 40 cents per copy. If you buy them at Pittsburgh it will cost you 75 cents.

Should Golfer Shoot At Manhole, Cup Or Thimble? Larger Or Smaller Hole?

Al Houghton demonstrates cups of three sizes.

By Central Press

VIRGINIA BEACH Va., Feb. 28.—Professional golfers will try to settle a controversy over the size of the game's standard cup when they gather here March 28 for the Cavalier open tournament.

The dispute has been a locker-room topic for several years, since Gene Sarazen declared himself in favor of an eight-inch cup. The present regulation calls for a cup four and one-fourth inches in diameter. Many of the pro golfers insist the cup should be even smaller—they want a two and three-fourths-inch cup.

During the tournament, Sarazen, Horton Smith, Al Houghton and others will make the first practical and competitive test ever made of the three cups. The event is being held under auspices of the Professional Golfers association.

Supporters of the two and three-fourths-inch cup claim that it will take the luck out of golf, halt the increase in record scores and put the game back on a scientific basis.

"Every golf course is designated on a theory that allows the putter two strokes to hole the ball," says Houghton. "The way the game is played today, a golfer can make up on the putting green what he loses from tee to green. Putting is variable, depending a good deal on luck. This is the reason in my opinion, and that of Johnny Revolta and Bobby Cruickshank, why record low golf scores are being hung up almost every week. The professional players believe that this tournament will settle for once and all the dispute over the proper size of the golf cup."

Vaughn Who Has Natural Swing Makes Own Terms

* * * * * *

Tade Has Broken Neck

By BILL BRAUCHER
Central Press Sports Editor

Who takes care of a young man whose life is wrecked by a football injury? What becomes of him—after Thanksgiving, when the football furor dies away?

Every year seems to bring an outstanding "unfortunate example", and 1935 was no exception. Medical authorities at University of Tennessee fear that Herbie Tade, star center, will be a helpless cripple for the rest of his life. Tade's neck was broken in the Tennessee-Kentucky game, at Lexington, last Thanksgiving day.

School's Attitude

What does the college do in a case of this kind?

"Tade can be assured that the athletic council will see that he has everything he needs in the way of medical treatment. But where the money to take care of him is coming from, we do not know. The boy may need further hospitalization under a specialist. The council has been taking care of him since he was injured, and we have about reached the end of our rope. But we'll see that he gets everything he needs."

The quotation is by Prof. Nathan W. Dougherty of the university athletic council, and seems to answer the question of what a school is willing to do for a young man badly hurt while wearing its colors.

Football companions of Tade have been canvassing the campus, asking 25 cents from every student. The sum they raise will be added to a fund of $1,000 raised by two basketball games between Tennessee and Kentucky. The money is being used to send Tade to one of the world's great brain surgeons in New York for examination and possible treatment.

This is an accurate report on what has been done for Tade, so far. From time to time this column will inform you of further developments.

Notes On Hitting .400

Arky Vaughn, the Pirates' great hitter, has been signed "at his own terms". Whatever those terms are, National league pitchers will have to admit he isn't getting a cent too much.

Vaughn, who hit around .400 nearly all of last season, and finished up with a mark of .385 to lead the league, hasn't a weakness, according to most of the men who have pitched to him. Even Old Diz Dean admits he is puzzled about what to throw Arky, because he hits fast ones, slow ones, high ones and low ones.

What is the secret of his great hitting?

Teammates say Vaughn has a "natural swing". It is hard to define a natural swing, but those who saw Joe Jackson know what it was. Joe used to bring his bat around and meet the ball solidly at the exact point where the ball should have been met. Like Vaughan, he seemed ready for any kind of pitch, never off balance.

Slender Grip

Vaughn uses a bat with a small handle. That kind of grip lets him use his wrists and fingers more than a thick one would. He stands far back in the box, but his stance is unlike Hornsby's, who stood far back and away from the plate. Vaughan stands close to the plate, with his right foot slightly out, so that he faces the pitcher more than most batters do. Joe Cronin stands similarly, but on the other side of the plate.

Standing back, Vaughan says, gives him a better chance to time the break on a curve ball. He keeps himself as "loose" as possible at all times, swinging smoothly and without great effort. And—there it goes!

Pirates Start Trip Southward

San Antonio, Texas, Is Spring Camp Destination Of Pirates

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 28—It was "Westward Ho" for the Pittsburgh Pirates today as a vagabond of pitchers and catchers prepared to entertain for San Antonio, Tex. where the cork will soon pop out of the spring training bottle.

Six players to be found in the advance squad will be pitchers Bill Swift, Johnny Wasco and Mace Brown, and catchers Tommy Padden, Al Todd and Spencer Woodill. Manager Pie Traynor, it was learned, was expected to arrive in San Antonio this afternoon from the Pacific Coast.

Officers Re-Named By East Brook A. A. For Another Year

Lou Harlan Is Re-Elected President, Edna Waddington Re-Named Treasurer

East Brook Athletic association held its regular monthly business meeting and election of officers last night at the East Brook high building. Lou Harlan who has served as president for the past year was unanimously re-elected to head the A. A. for another year.

The election resulted in "Hub" Hart being named as vice-president, Miss Edna Waddington being re-elected as treasurer and Vera Hart being named as secretary of the association. Mrs. "Hub" Hart was named as chairlady of the banquet committee for the basketball dinner to be held the latter part of April. Miss Edna Waddington and Gail McAnlis were named as the decorating committee. The entertainment committee will consist of "Hub" Hart, Byron Patterson and John Rung.

The East Brook A. A. is entering upon its fifth year as an organization and has done wonders at East Brook since its inception. The club is without a doubt one of the finest of its kind in the entire state. The East Brook A. A. has only recently completed purchase of new basketball uniforms for the boys and girls floor teams at East Brook high. The association is for the advancement and aid of athletics in the high school and has served its purpose to the nth degree.

Plans were also made at the meeting for an entertainment to be held later in the year. The association has grown with leaps and bounds and under the guidance of Lou Harlan takes its place as leader in its field.

(International News Service)

Five thousand fans cheered the local miler when he passed Cunningham at the start of the 13th and final lap on the indoor board track.

He was five feet ahead of the champion when he breasted the tape. Cunningham put on his great driving finish but was unable to catch the flying Olympian whose time was 4:16.3.

Eddie O'Brien Is Groomed For Olympic Races

Expect Syracuse University Star Quarter Miler To Set World's Record

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—Uncle Sam's surest bet for the Olympic games at Berlin this summer is Eddie O'Brien of the Atlantic City O'Briens and Syracuse university.

If Eddie doesn't bring home the bacon in the 400 meters, then Tom Keane, his aged coach, Lawson Robertson, the American Olympic coach and Cupid Dan Ferris, the A. A. U. maestro, don't know their track athletes.

Eddie is not only a sure winner in their book but a prospective world record breaker as well. They tab him as a potential 46-second quarter miler.

Should Be Cinch

When you reflect that the world record for 400 meters is 46.2 and for 440 yards is 46.4, you realize just how much Messrs. Keane, Robertson and Ferris think of the young man's capabilities.

"Anybody," says Ferris, "who can step out and make all h' own pace and break a world record for 600 meters as Eddie did last Saturday, should find the 400 meter event a cinch.

"Eddie ran the 600 meters in 1:21 but it's certain he could step faster if pressed. He's shown he can carry his terrific speed over a route and the shorter distance should be just a breeze for him."

As a matter of fact, the long-legged Irish-American with the raven hair, is a converted sprinter. He still is a sprinter but one with the stamina to carry his speed over a distance.

It is Ferris' theory that the record breakers of the future are to be found among the long-legged fellows like O'Brien.

Gloves are proportioned by a scale based on the fact that in the average man's hand the length of the third finger is the same as the width of the hand, and the same figure is the length of the body of the hand to the wrist.

Walter Johnson Is Without Job

Former Star Hurler And Cleveland Manager Lives On His Farm

By LEON W. SHLOSS
International News Service Sports Writer

WASHINGTON Feb. 28—Walter Johnson the Kansas farm boy who became the fireball king of the major leagues apparently has gone to the baseball wars for the last time.

With the 1936 training season gaining momentum and "opening day" less than six weeks off Johnson is without a contract. The Cleveland Indians with which club he is nominally connected as an unofficial scout has no place in its plans for him.

"Cy" Slapnicka, the tribe's business manager, says he does not contemplate "putting on any new scouts" and that he has had no correspondence with Johnson

Works Big Farm

President Alva Bradley of the Indians who, under pressure of a popular crusade against Johnson, relieved him of the managerial reins during the stretch run of the 1935 campaign, is vacationing in Florida and has nothing to say in connection with Johnson.

Johnson is making no comment and continues to plot his spring planting and groom his kennel of hunting dogs on his 300-acre farm at nearby Germantown, Md. The uncommunicative but friendly giant is apparently resigned to retirement from the game which he loved so well and which paid him off in cruel grief and disappointment.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Waynesburg staged a second half rally at Beaver Falls last night to defeat Geneva 32 to 27 in a benefit game for the Passavant Memorial home at Rochester. The Yellow Jackets trailed six points, or 12 to 6, at the end of the first half, but after the intermission spurted into a 24-23 lead when Clarke scored a field goal from the side of the court. From that time on the lead changed four times before Waynesburg went definitely ahead on field goals by Clarke and Marovina. St. Vincent won from Youngstown college 48 to 35 at Latrobe. California beat Edinboro Teachers 33 to 26 at California and Mt. Union won from Wooster 51 to 41 at Alliance.

Patty Berg won from Hilda Livengood, Illinois state golf champion, in the quarter finals of the South Atlantic women's championship golf meet at Ormond Beach, Fla., yesterday. The Minneapolis girl won 5 up and 3 to play. Miss Berg, who like her defeated opponent is yet in her teens, played even par on nine holes, went a single stroke over par on three and gathered three birdies to win. She laid five stymies on the last five holes and Miss Livengood was able to only get over her once, that when she won the 12th hole.

Sulu outclassed Homewood Flirta-tious in yesterday's heats of the bird dog event in the national field trials at Grand Junction, Tenn. Running in the morning brace, Sulu pointer, owned by A. G. A. Sage, New York, turned in an outstanding exhibition. The title defender, Homewood Flirtatious, showed flashes of the form she displayed in winning the crown last year. She is owned by H. M. Curry, Pittsburgh. Sulu pointed seven coveys and two singles and handled all with perfection. Her bracemate, King Genius, another pointer, ran a strong race for a young dog and handled two covey finds well. He is owned by C. R. Dawley of Charleston, W. Va. Equipoise, 1935 all-American amateur champion, owned by M. S. Dudley of Greenwood, S. C., running in the afternoon brace with The Flirt, went chasing after a deer and had three unproductive points.

Pittsburgh fight rings may soon see Lee Sheppard, the Clevelander, strutting his stuff. Although Sheppard weighs only 126 pounds, he has milled against the lightweights and is one fighter of the Ohio district who looks as though he will go places. He is a brother of the Sheppard who boxed Johnny Hunt, the colored boy, last summer, at Taggart field. Jimmie Dunn has been handling Sheppard and is in Pittsburgh today where he hopes to arrange a couple of matches for Sheppard. Dunn has returned to the fight game, believing that it will enjoy a big comeback this summer. He has a score of fighters romping in his gymnasium.

Dutch women bettered two swim-ming records at Amsterdam Thursday. Willy Den Ouden swam 100 meters free style in 1 minute 4.6 seconds, clipping one fifth of a second from her own accepted world record. Rita Mastenbroek swam the 100 meters backstroke in 1:58.8, a half second under the list record held by Eleanor Holm Jarrett.

Greensburg high school wrestlers defeated Turtle Creek 43 to 5 last night....Tennis and track are the best spring training for gridders, said "Hurry Up" Yost at Austin. He doesn't believe formal spring football practice is of much use....Bridgeport, O., high school will sponsor its second annual boxing tourney April 1 and 2. Seventy high schools in the tri-state district are entered....Union high of Turtle Creek beat Butler high in swimming at Turtle Creek, 43-22.

Stock Market Forges Ahead

Many Of Leading Stocks Gain More Than Point Today

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service
Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—The stock market forged ahead today, as scant heed was paid to Washington dispatches indicating President Roosevelt would ask for over a half-billion in new taxes, a fairly broad advance bringing gains in leaders running to more than a point.

One issue—Allied Chemical—soared more than four points to a new 1935-36 peak.

Oils, rails, merchandising shares, coppers, tobaccos and farm equipments were prominent on the upside. Mail orders and steels were inclined to lag.

Several new highs were made, with National Lead continuing its spectacular advance on a runup of six points to 294. American Locomotive jumped more than a point to reach 36.

In petroleums Amerada and Texas Corp. set new peaks, the former spurting more than a point to above 92. Standard Oil of N. J., and Consolidated also were in demand.

Gains of a point and more were chalked up by American Tobacco B, American Telephone, Schenley, American Smelting and American Can.

Mail order shares were held back by moderate profit-taking.

Guffey Control Act Is Attacked

Two New York Lawyers Severely Assail New Coal Control Act

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28. — The Guffey coal act was assailed as confiscatory in a brief filed in the supreme court today in the Carter case by Frederick Wood and William D. Whitney, New York lawyers.

The case is to be argued March 11. The brief asserts that the law "regiments the producer into a rigid scheme for the distribution of markets and utterly destroys his power of management over the most vital of his business.

Is Confiscatory

The 15 per cent tax levied in the act, to be rebated up to 90 per cent, if the coal operator compiles with the Guffey law coal code, is confiscatory, the brief said.

"By controlling prices, markets, customers and wages, the Carter Coal Company is deprived of any opportunity to earn a return upon the business skill or sagacity of its officers and directors," said the brief.

The whole act, it was asserted, invades the police power of the state and lodges in the federal government control over local affairs.

Tells of Arms Graft

Captain John Ball

In testimony before the British royal commission, conducting an investigation in London of the private arms industry, Captain John Ball, director of the Solen Armaments Company, Ltd., admitted that "palm greasing" was frequent in consummating sales of arms and that "people aren't going to do anything for nothing". In a letter read at the Washington arms inquiry, Captain Ball stated that his firm could sell enough surplus rifles from the stocks of the British war office "to alter the political balance of power of smaller states".

TWO-STORY HOUSE GOES TO SEA!

Moving day on the Pacific.

August Fisher of Ilwaco, Wash., wanted to move his two-story house through the open sea to Willapa bay, 35 miles away. The house, on a barge, was started, towed by two small tugs. A gale blew up, rendered the tugs useless and the house went to sea. The barge has drifted into a harbor many miles north, minus the house, and now Mr. Fisher is praying for his house to come home!
